WE NOMINATE

Harry Hammond Hess, internationally known geologist and chairman of the Space Science Board of the National Academy of Science, who becomes the first Princetonian to appear on TOWN TOPICS' front page for the second time in the 1960's. Some 18 months ago the 57-year old Hess was singled out for his major contributions to the "Mohole Project," a fascinating venture that may permit scientists to bring up a precious lump of rock from a hole drilled 5-6 miles into the ocean floor; this week Hess is peering upward into space and "campaigning" intensively to have a skilled scientist on board the first manned flight to the moon.

Where the directors of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, an agency the National Academy helped create, want all three members of the initial moon exploration to be pilot-engineers, Hess maintains that a scientist should make the trip. "A scientist," he contends, "could gather and transmit, or could bring back, information absolutely invaluable to further space exploration and to science as a whole." He also feels that "it will be easier to convert a scientist into an astronaut than the other way round" and that the scientist-passenger would experience "only a few critical moments."

A full-time Princetonian for almost three decades, whose research interests range from the fourth and fifth places in refraction indices to ocean basins millions of square miles in size, Hess suggests that the first astro-scientist should be a geologist and possibly an older man. In some 20 minutes on the moon, Hess predicts, "a good geologist could determine the depth and composition of the layer of dust said to cover the moon; could determine the nature of the surface under the dust; could tell if water was to be found and could decide whether materials would be available for building a permanent station."

The question of age does not really perturb Hess, a Rear Admiral in the Naval Reserve, who will be in his middle 60's when Project Apollo is ready circa 1967-1970. "To be good," Hess points out, the scientist in question "would have to be experienced. To get that experience he'd have to put in a lot of time on the job. Thus, beside having the know-how, this older man would have most of his career behind him. Frankly, he would have made his contribution and would be less of a loss than a young man."

For Hess, a native of Elberon, N. J., the moon-journey would be an adventurous climax. Chairman since 1952 of the University's Department of Geology, and the decorated captain of an assault transport in the Pacific in World War II, Hess in the 1930's was a member of submarine-borne expeditions that sought to determine the varying values of the force of gravity in the sub-oceanic areas of the Caribbean. In the same period he "ducked bullets and bricks in banana wars" and gained insights into Latin American affairs that have proved to be of inestimable value in projecting the years just ahead. These cruises in the Lower Antilles started him on his investigations of the geology of ocean basins of island arcs and of the relationship of gravity anomalies to these features, and on his present-day direction of a far-reaching program of research concerned with the Island Arc in the Caribbean and its equivalent extension down into the Venezuelan Andes.

For once again meriting the accolade, "Man of Science"; for looking into Princeton's future with the understanding generated by Princeton Past and Present; for sensing the potential and future dangers in the status quo; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

CAMPAIGNING IS OVER
For Eight Tired Men.
Hoarse of voice, full of coffee, calked off finger from doorbell ringing, Princeton's eight candidates for public office will gather this Tuesday with a friend or two, or drop in at headquarters to see how things are going, eager to win and yet, perhaps, none too unhappy if the vote goes to the other man. He states:

Borough Council: Republican incumbents William H. Walker and Alfred Sorenson; Democrat Shaw Livermore and James Andrews.

Township Committee: Democrats John Hite and James Foley; Republicans John O. Green, Jr., and Carl C. Schaefer, Jr.

tion tradition in home-center of Princeton has been the coffee hour. A dedicated member of the party invites friends and neighbors to her home to drink coffee, listen to the candidates and ask questions.

Hopefully, the hostess will snare members of the opposite party or fence-sitters; usually, however, she is able to recruit only party members as loyal as herself because, as one Princetonian put it, declining an invitation, "My mind's already made up; don't confuse me with the facts."

Mr. Green and Mr. Schaefer, asking the sponsors to do some political entertaining, and steering away from the "coffee-hour" designation.

Mr. Green and Mr. Schaefer have attended about 20 of these affairs with an average attendance of 30, making a contact circle of about 600 residents of the community.

This year in the Township Democrats John Hite and James Foley have followed a similar schedule, with a variation or two. Coffee hours were held in late August and early September for about 10 party workers in each district. Here, the hard core of workers met the candidates personally, sat down with them to discuss issues and the practical, foot-slugging means of reaching the victory goal.

This year in the Borough, Democrats Shaw Livermore and James Andrews have bypassed the coffee-hour altogether, preferring to concentrate on personal, doorbell campaigning and on a discussion of issues through newspaper advertising. The Walton "Cold Steam" Vaporizer-Humidifier produces water vapor by a Centrifugal Atomizer . . . thus the water leaves the humidifier at approximately room temperature . . . hence, these benefits:

- No Increase in room temperature.
- Reduces condensation problems by creating room temperature vapor.
- Offers faster, greater liquification of congestion (when used as treatment).

"Neighborhood sponsors' gatherings for Mr. Green and Mr. Schafer have turned up three persistent issues: pollution, consolidation and planning, with surprisingly few questions on taxation.
On consolidation, the question asked of Township officials is "Where do you stand?" and questioners seek in the favor of the move, newcomers especially.
At one Township Republican gathering, a guest asked, "What should we do about the serious water situation here?" Mr. Schafer said he thought the Princeton Water Company had "become serious about doing something," and Mr. Green agreed. John S. Mount, Township Committeeman who introduced the two candidates, urged them, if elected the said "when elected" to "stay on the back of the water company."

Democrats in the Borough have been plugging the consolidation issue hard in their door-to-door contacts and advertisements.

Same Leaves Don't Make Good Tea

Iodine? The smell of earth? Alum, perhaps? Starting at 8:30 a.m. Sunday, the Princeton Water Company, plagued by water apries of one kind or another for the past year, began to receive calls about a peculiar smell in the water.
Walter Jefferson, secretary of the company, conferred with John Wilford of the State Board of Health, who said it was probably autumn leaves. The Princeton Water Company has been using canal water extensively this year for the first time, and apparently falling leaves steep in canal water just the way tea leaves do in a pot, leaving behind not orange pecko.

Borough Republicans have been inviting registered Democrats to their coffee hours but they also looked for independents and for analthe Republicans they could insist with fervor.

Always Campaigning. "An incumbent is campaigning all the time, year after year, as long as he is in office," points out Mr. Walker. "People who come to Borough Council meetings, or read the newspapers know where he stands on issues before he even begins to run."

But Mr. Walker and Mr. Sorenson stepped things up several, just the same. Questions at Republican coffee hours have been about Open Space, parking and traffic of the traffic light on Avalon Place and Bayard Lane. And about consolidation.

Five of the eight candidates—Democrats Livermore, and Andrews and Republicans Walker, Sorenson and Schafer—work in Princeton and have a chance to greet acquaintances on the street with a handshake, and a "Did you know I'm running..."
This person's touch, basic

but a peculiar, characteristically earthy odor and taste.
Mr. Wilford told Mr. Jefferson that Trenton, and the communities of Asbury Park, Bradley Beach and Red Bank had also observed the same phenomenon.
By Monday noon, the company had received about 30 calls, and had sent a man to each house to observe and explain. Wells, which were rising and the smell began to dissipate. An engineer from the company's Trenton office, Siefert and Jost, has been in Princeton to work on the problem.

to any pollticking, may be even more important than a coffee hour, and the opinion of some candidates, although the coffee hours percolate down to reach many more people than those who actually attend.

"I always get a warm welcome when I visit a home," Mr. Green says. "The parents wait for the children to meet me, and they seem flattered that a candidate would seek them out and ask their opinion."

As in any community, there are citizens who behave calmly about what "who's going to pick up my leaves?" and "what about the sidewalk in front of my house?" and "that dog of my neighbor's..." However, at Republican gatherings in the Township, Mr. Mount has been starting things off by saying, "We're here to discuss important problems: not dogs, or swimming pool fencing."

Traditional Meeting. One traditional campaign event, faced by all candidates together, is the annual League of Women Voters' meeting, held this year in Community Park School Monday night.

This year's audience of about 100 persons heard Mr. Walker urge cooperation with the Township on circumferential roads and defend the Borough's Master Plan and zoning ordinances as sound and alive, against challenges by Mr. Livermore that no one had clearly marked out areas of future growth for business homes and educational institutions and by Mr. Andrews that there was no operating master plan.

Mr. Sorenson, an engineer, pointed to his seven years of service on the Joint Sewer Operating Committee and said he wanted to offer his experience in the coming years of sewer expansion.

Mr. Foley in the Township, cited Princeton Manor as a high rateable which he believed the Township had let slip through its fingers, and his running mate, Mr. Hite, said he hoped that Princeton Township would not become another Scarsdale—high-income dormitory." He urged the Township to seek out rateables such as small hotels like the Princeton Inn, which contributes some $30,000 a year to the Township and an apartment like the University's Lakeside complex which adds about $50,000 to the tax rolls.

His opponent, Mr. Schafer, said that multiple housing was inconsistent with a single-family, unconsented community, and Mr. Green urged the preservation of Princeton as a part-urban, part-country community, and said that progress toward planning goals should be gradual, with the generation of new tax revenues "from the remaining developable properties."

In a meeting highly concerned with the factual approach, Mr. Hite and a Republican questioner from the audience drew a laugh when they began to discuss multiple housing and light industry. "Small apartment units don't produce so many school children," Mr. Hite said. Paul Alford, Princeton, said, with a laugh, "Would you call that 'light industry'?" Mr. Hite?

HALF-MILLION INVOLVED
In Building Post Office
The acquisition of land and construction of a new post office for Princeton may run to $500,000, according to estimates of the Chamber of Commerce committee which worked for three years to assure the community of such construction.

Announcement that the new building will be a reality in the near future was made last week by Benjamin Falmbo, executive secretary of the Chamber, following word from Congressman Frank Thompson of the Mercer-Burlington district. The latter reported that funds have definitely been appropriated in Washington to replace the post office which has stood in Palmer Square since 1934.

R. L. Lenhart, head of the advertising agency which bears his name, was chairman of the Chamber's committee which led the campaign to replace the present building — one whose cramped facilities were outgrown by this area more than a decade ago. The half-million dollar figure was advanced by Mr. Lenhart this week in a discussion of the major findings of his committee.

"After surveying the need for proper postal facilities in Princeton," Mr. Lenhart said, "we advocated acquisition of a 75,000-square foot lot based on dimensions of 225x300. Our committee felt this would be adequate for a building of about 37,500 square feet and allow for sufficient parking for patrons and by trucks using the rear platform."

Site Undetermined. Mr. Lenhart went on to say that a suitably-located lot would exist in the neighborhood of $150,000, with the building itself running to an estimated $350,000. There is no indication of whether the government plans to buy and build itself, or contract for the new post office on a lease-back basis," he said.

No site has been selected, but Mr. Lenhart and Mr. Falmbo indicate, nor has a date even been tentatively set for ground-breaking. There will, however, be considerable disappointment among those who have worked on the project if the negotiations are not settled and construction started inside of 12 months.

Expectations are that the new post office will house all mail activities under one roof. For the past five years, an annex has been rented just west of the Pennsylvania Railroad Station to handle the bulk of incoming mail.

WILL NEWCOMERS WIN? Election night this Tuesday will be the baptism of fire for these five newcomers to the Princeton political scene. Three Democrats and two Republicans, they are running for office in Borough and Township for the first time this year. Seated, left to right, are Shaw Livermore and James Andrews, Democratic candidates for Borough Council, and John Hite, Democratic candidate for Township Committee. Standing, left to right, are John O. Green, Jr., and Carl C. Schafer, Jr., Republican candidates for Township Committee. The other Borough Council candidates are William H. Walker and Alfred Sorenson, incumbent Republicans. The other Township candidate is James E. Foley, Democrat, who ran for office in 1957.

When the present Post Office was completed 28 years ago, it stood on what was then little more than a vacant lot, hidden by a solid row of stores on Nassau Street. Palmer Square was on the drawing boards, but ground would not be broken for its first buildings until 1936.

Very rapidly after World War II, as the community began to expand, facilities in the estimated at $375,000. In addition, there will be a kindergarten with classrooms, kitchenette pantry and faculty offices at $100,000; a residence for the 30 members of the religious faculty at $200,000; a chapel large enough to seat the entire student body and guests, with a working sacristy, vestry and organ loft; $375,000, and a library of 15,000 volumes to cost $125,000.

Other facilities will be a gymnasium with a spectators gallery seating 100, an art room, and the usual dining, kitchen and infirmary quarters. The gymnasium has been budgeted at $365,000 and the service units at $300,000. Site work is estimated to cost $250,000.

"Half of the funds are expected to be obtained from donors located in central New Jersey," Mr. O'Brien announced, "the remaining funds needed are expected from the world-wide friends of the Society of the Sacred Heart, the teaching Order which is establishing the school."

Home Stretch. In statements this week, candidates made their final stand.
Township Democrats: "Force the University to face its responsibilities to the town by keeping College Road open... press for a sewer authority to own and control the sewer system... press for public control of the water company work for consolidation."
Township Republicans: "Choose once and for all between a single politically integrated municipality and the present system of dual government" with joint boards. Borough Republicans: "Further the thorough study of areas of joint operation between Borough and Township" force the state to develop a 200 by-pass... keep the Borough in good economic health as a residential college town through adoption of a new Master Plan."

PERSONALITIES
Dr. Roland T. Dy, Constitution Drive, who defines Fidel Castro as "one of the few men in history who ever got a blank check to ruin his country."

Rushing the Season

When ice forms on a Manifold,
You know the fall
Is very cold.
—CHRIS ANTIHUMUM

There was an unusual (and somewhat unwelcome) addition to the brown, red and gold of autumn last week. For several hours on Friday, snow fell a distinctly white touch to the more familiar October trappings. Admitting that the season had rushed him somewhat, the Weather Man split his ticket in forecasting the next few days. No colder than normal, which is an average of 53 at this time of year, but no return to a balmy Indian Summer, either. Little precipitation expected.

For Dr. Ely's comments on Castro's trail from the time of his Princeton visit in April, 1959 until he brought Cuba to the brink of ruin under Russian rule, see page 10.

Fraser Macleod, Cause Brook Drive, Princeton Junction, 13-year old Princeton Country Day student who was the central figure in a typical boyhood "adventure" when he and companions found a cannon ball fired by the British during the Battle of Princeton Story and picture, page 25.

ROUND-UP

Mayor Patterson announced this week that the State Highway Department will recommend installation of the traffic light sought by the Borough residents of the Bayard Lane-Avalon Place area at that intersection... inasmuch as the municipality has volunteered to meet the expense, there should be little delay.

At the request of the State Civil Defense office, the Fire Department will test its sirens at noon Saturday, when other municipalities do, rather than Wednesday... however, the bells and the honker atop the fire houses will continue to be tested at the mid-week hour.

Reports of car slashings by vandals continue. A convertible owned by Robert R. Conly, 3 Palmer Square, had its roof cut while parked in the lot on John Street... a tire on a car owned by Bruce Marker, 205 Nassau Street, was slashed on Monday while parked near that address.

Some two dozen University students and faculty members demonstrated Saturday afternoon in Palmer Square, protesting this country's military operations against Cuba. They carried signs reading: "No Cuban War" and "Remember the UN Charter," but were kept from distributing leaflets by Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney and Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan, who invoked a recently-enacted ordinance to prevent violence they felt might follow.

The Princeton Student Peace Union and the Organization for a Sane Nuclear Policy sponsored the demonstration. Faculty members participating were Michael Walzer, Philip Green, Arthur Schwartz, Robert Moeck and Paul D. Tillet.

Colder than usual winter? Princeton goes into history with a record of having brought more snow (an inch and a half the 26th) and a colder day (25 degrees, also last Friday) than the month has provided at any time in the past.

Highest temperature last week was 60, while on Thursday, the thermometer never got above 42. In all, three readings below freezing were recorded.

The "open house" held by the Borough Police Department was a distinct success (see pages, page 13). Hundreds of schoolchildren visited.

Another essay on "My Day at Borough Hall" may raise a parental eyebrow in a home or two around town, but is reprinted here regardless:

Dear Policeman:

"I liked the jails best of all, then the siren and the sneaky thief powder and the walkie-talkie. I liked the guns, too. There were so many things that I liked."

"My brother smokes cigarettes and does not tell my mother, and thank you very much."

News Of The THEATRES

"HERITAGE" TO OPEN
At McCarter This Week. With a double bill of widely differing plays, McCarter Theatre will open its "Mediterranean Heritage" repertory of five plays this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Curtain time for all opening nights will be 7:30, but subsequent openings will be at 8:30.

The double offering for this Thursday is Sophocles' "Antigone" and Christopher Fry's "A Phoenix Too Frequent," both directed for McCarter by Stephen Porter, returning to Princeton for his third season with the theatre.

Written 2,400 years before "A Phoenix Too Frequent," "Antigone" is a sombre, thrilling play depicting the fateful outcome of a clash between tyranny and defiant freedom. The Fry work is a light-hearted satire on human nature, full of wry comment on the frailties of man. It was first presented in London in 1946.

Many actors in the 1962 resident professional company are returning to McCarter from previous years. Jon Cypher, Alan Nixon, Gwylum Evans and Dennis Longwell

ANTIGONE: An actress who has performed in both classic and modern roles, Gwylum Evans will play the leading role of Antigone when the Sophocles tragedy opens this Thursday in McCarter Theatre.

are among those back from the 1961 company. Mr. Cypher was seen last week as McCarter's "The Fantasticks." Mr. Nixon as the mute in the same production and Mr. Evans as one of the two fathers.

Ted d'Arms is back for his third year at McCarter, and Eve Roberts, who was with the APA company two years ago, has also returned.

William Roberts, scene designer who came to McCarter with the well-remembered APA company in 1960, is in residence again, and so is Gail Fuller, who is once more serving as costume mistress.

COME ON STRONG. WILL Shakespeare Is Next. "Comedy of Errors" has already had its "opening night" for students, and it will open for adult audiences at McCarter Theatre next Thursday at 7:30. (All opening night performances are at 7:30; others are at the usual 8:30 curtain-time.) More than 500 boys and girls from New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York attended the opening on October 22 in Mc-

Carter, brought to Princeton by chartered school buses. These student matinees will continue on several November dates.

In Shakespeare's farce, two pairs of identical twins, separated since birth, come together in the same town. Each one is unaware of his brother's existence and the plot goes on from there.

After next Thursday's opening, "Comedy of Errors" will be given again next Friday and Saturday at 8:30 and on Saturday, November 24, at 2:30.

portrayals of Medea and Lady Macbeth that have brought fame and awards to Dame Judith Anderson will be given in McCarter Theatre on Tuesday, November 27, at 8:30 when the distinguished actress brings her company of six actors to Princeton.

The show consists of those actresses from "Macbeth" in which Lady Macbeth is the central figure, and an abridgement of Robinson Jeffers' "Medea." A supporting company of six attends Dame Anderson in these offerings.

An Australian-born actress, Dame Anderson received the title of Dame Commander of the British Empire from Queen Elizabeth, and she regards this accolade from the Queen as the high point in her career.

CHINESE ACTORS COMING
Teen-Age Performers In Cast. The group of youngsters composing the Foo Hsing Theatre are of Nationalist China will appear in a one-night stand at McCarter Theatre on Wednesday, November 21, at 8:30. Foo Hsing is appearing under the imprimatur of S. Huruk.

Rising in age from 9 to 17 years, the Foo Hsing actors perform in the ancient Chinese tradition that fuses drama, dancing and acrobatics.

Their McCarter offering will be "The Beautiful Ball," based on a plot to overthrow a tyrannical prime minister with the "ball" of a beautiful young woman.

The young performers in this drama will wear formal.

distorted make-up to indicate a villain, integrity and dignity, a scarlet face, and so on. Costumes are richly embroidered. Farclic battle scenes, exotic dances whirling with ribbons, impressive acrobatics and haunting songs are part of the Foo Hsing presentation. The theatre group started its north American tour two weeks ago at the Seattle World's Fair, and has received special commendation for the richness and color of its costuming. The name "Foo Hsing" means revival.

GUITARISTS TO PLAY
As Team. A pair of French duo-guitarists, Presti and Lagoya, will bring their unusual music to McCarter Theatre on Monday, November 19, at 8:30 for a concert under the auspices of S. Huruk.

The repertoire assembled by Presti and Lagoya includes compositions written over the last 500 years for the classical lute, and more recently, for the guitar. Their renditions have been especially arranged for their paired instruments. Tickets, at $2.99 and $1.99, are on sale at the McCarter Theatre box-office.

FRENCH MOVIE HERE
With English Titles: "L'Atlantide," a French film described as a tender ironic story of a newly-wedded couple who start life on a barge, will be shown next Tuesday in McCarter as part of the University French Film Series. "L'Atlantide" has English subtitles. The film will be shown at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are 50 cents.

Seminars Planned

Four public seminars will be held during November for the purpose of discussing the four plays that will be given in McCarter Theatre's "Mediterranean Heritage" drama series.

The seminars, to be held Saturdays at 10:30 a.m., will begin this week in McCarter's auditorium with Stephen Porter discussing his role as director in the productions of "Antigone" and "A Phoenix Too Frequent."

The director of each "Heritage" production will speak in the course of these seminars, and will invite discussion from the floor on problems imposed by script, cast, staging and so on. Although the seminars have been designed for undergraduates, they are open to the public as well, without charge.

for members of the University and all other students, and 75 cents for non-students. Season tickets will be available at reduced prices.

PLAYHOUSE

The Chapman Report (Today thru Tues.) explores the sexual problems, marital and extra-marital, of four characters named Sarah, Kathleen, Naomi and Teresa. The film is an adaptation of Irving Wallace's erotic story of neurotic women, "The Chapman Report." —Continued on Page 8

...and England, the Sterns acquired many notable antiques like the Chippendale bird mirror from about 1780, purchased from Alfred Bullard, of London. The bird is in gilded wood, worked into the carving at the top of the modestly scaled mirror.

From Surrey, the Sterns brought back to Palmer Square
a birdcage table in mahogany, 35 inches in diameter, in the prime condition of an heirloom piece which has been lovingly cared for over generations. (The bird-cage, as you know, refers to the gallery that runs around the hub of the table, out of sight unless you bend down to see.)

Any household, regardless of period, would be enhanced by a small, bow-front chest from the early 18th century, made with two drawers across the top and two long drawers below. Scaled to a size that would be appropriate even in today's small rooms, this chest is another of those tawny mahogany pieces, even warmer in color than the card-table, a drier sherry, perhaps.

A delightful knee-hole desk is small, too, probably designed for a lady with very small knees, or perhaps for a child. It has two pedestals with a small compartment behind the knee-hole so that no peeping tom can look at the knees from the other side.
There are double drawers and a folding writing surface.

Not everything is in the furniture line here at Elmwood.
Look at a pair of English decanters, for example, with a small star motif and faceted neck and stopper. Or the single French pewter candlestick with a swirled shaft so different from straightforward American pewter.

nounced. Watch for the Elm-

ule.

Sugar On Mine, Please

Among the exotics we found in the conservatory at Gene Seal's is a pineapple plant, growing all by itself far removed from the convivial atmosphere of life in a crowded Cuba—beg your pardon—Puerto Rican pineapple field.

It looks very much like a pineapple, oddly enough,
with long, thin spear leaves branching out from the bottom of the plant. What we like particularly about this specimen is the one-inch baby pineapple, fresh and sassy as you please, growing right there on the parent plant as though this were an open field.

What bothers us is the future. How is this one-inch fellow going to sustain himself as he gets bigger and heavier? Those leaves don't look any too strong to us.
Gene Seal suggests that some visible means of support, like a stake, be provided for the small pineapple as he grows.

ANY OLD PHILODENDRON?

Throw 'em Out Ladies with a taste for greenery and a no-good thumb for gardening have settled for the philodendron as the coward's way out.
Gene Seal the Florist suggests,
not the total abandonment of the philodendron after all,
they sell those, too! but a partial commitment to more ex-cotic house plants.

For modern homes, Gene Seal is suggesting a dragon tree, a device that comes from the same family as the palm.
We saw a columnar form, but you may prefer a spreading specimen—the plant seems to come in both. It has a simplicity of line that should make it quite at home with Danish teak.

The variegated hibiscus, on the other hand, is a good bit more flamboyant, showing off a shrimp-pink flower and leaves that shade off into light green and white. The croton in bristly fancy too, with leaves that are shaded in red and emerald green, no two alike.

It is a vertical sort of plant,
chosen, like the dragon tree,
to fill up a corner and not spread out into the room. Podocarpus is narrow like this, too.

Ferns at Gene Seal start with a birds' nest fern which is called that because the plant builds itself a sort of little nest down in the center where the stems all come from. This is a broad-leaved fern with leaves that look and feel like stiff faille. The holly fern has,
as you might guess, a leaf like holly. No berry.

Off in a corner of the tiled window bay that serves Gene Seal as a kind of conservatory, is an umbrella tree of considerable size. Measuring our living-room mentally, we asked about size in umbrellas, and we learned that they come as small as 15 inches and as large as five feet or so. This is in the American living-room, where the ecology is a little different from the jungle.

Another sizeable plant is a weeping fig (Ficus Benjamin-ia) which has a grace not found in some of the more uncompromising "modern"
plants.

We rather liked the agave

port." It is not for the young or the modest-minded.
 Throughout almost every minute of the two-hour show,
 the topic of discussion relates explicitly to satisfaction of the women's sex urges. Most tragic of the characters is Naomi,
 played believably and with fine dramatic effect, by Claire Bloom. Naomi is a compulsive sexual addict who seeks for forgetfulness through the gin bottle.

Glynis Johns plays the naive
 but uninhibited Teresa; Shelly Winters portrays Sarah, mother of two youngsters, who has an affair with the married director of a local little theatre.
 There is a troubled romance between Dr. Chapman's imperi-onal assistant, played by Elizabeth Taylor, and the young widow, Kathleen (Jane Fonda). Little is left to the imagination at any stage of the extraordinarily frank proceedings. Comment: the bottom of the barrel.

THE PRIZE: Sophia Loren is the trophy in "The Raffle," one of three episodes in "Eccentric 70," coming to the Prince-next Wednesday. Romy Schneider and Anita Ekberg
 star in the other sequences.

It's New To Us
 —Continued from Page 7—
 cactus, a plant shaped like an aggressive athlete, about eight inches high, with a symmetrical cluster formation of white-lined green leaves.

Many of these unusual plants, come, not from the holds of tropical freighters, but from Princeton greenhouses. Serious plant hobbyists right here in town who have more avarice than they can use, turn the surplus over to Gene Seal.

Incidentally, all these plants have been house-tested, and you will receive detailed instructions on care when you buy.

With autumn due to remain for a time, Gene Seal suggests either a table centerpiece (from $2.50) or, shall we say, yellow and orange strawflowers, to take home and make into an arrangement yourself.

 Besides these colorful straw flowers, there are subtleties like the grey-white cecropia leaf which you soak in water and then mould to shape, and the brown lotus pods with their nested seeds and the bright orange Jove-apples. Everything is real at Seal, although a few things may have been dyed, just for effect.

FORGET THE PLATE
 Mat Stands Alone. The place mats in the Town Shop's new collection are much too appealing to hide behind a plate.
 We suggest you set the table with them and forget about china. There are lacquered (but not obtrusively shiny)
 mats of old English prints, mounted with blue mat and narrow gold border.

There are hunting or fishing prints, "mired" sporting prints, scenes of whaling and clipper ships, most of them from the early 19th century or so, all vigorous and rural in appeal. And, as we said earlier, treated to be absolutely impervious to anything.

In addition to the English sporting scenes, there are English country houses and American scenic views. The mats come in two sizes, 9½ inches long and 14 inches long, and they are available in sets of six from the shop on Palmer Square.

Buried wood has been used for a scalloped-edge tray with handles that are twisted branches, woven about a thin plate and a pair of birds. Matching the tray, there is a seven-inch leaf bowl with a stem handle, and a deep fish bowl with crossed tail handle.

The Philippine monkey pod provides the substance of a salad bowl whose rippling edges curl inward to a flat bottom.
 A small trapezoid dish has softly rounded corners and a sloping "S" to divide the nuts from the olives.

In quite a different mood,
 there is a black lacquer tray with a lion inlaid in a light-stained wood. He has a wolfish air, a slightly rampant posture and a jeweled crown floating innocently above his mane, like a halo. Another inlay-work tray uses mother of pearl and a scattering of sequins to make two seashores and a suggestion of sea fronds,
 all against an ebony sea.

For the man who hangs around the house, Town Shop has a brown marble free-form ashtray (easy to clean!) and a severe cigarette box, plain except for the grain of the stone.

WHAT NEXT FOR CASTRO?
 Dr. Ely Discusses Cuba.
 "Now is considered our last chance to get rid of Castro," Roland T. Ely, the man who,
 in April, 1959, brought Fidel Castro to Princeton, summed up last Friday an unidentified phone call from a Latin American source.

"It's now or never," he reported, hanging up the phone.
 "The Latin American governments have offered military and political help, but this action would have to be taken within the next week or ten days, it is felt. If not they will start drifting away."

Dr. Ely, professor of economics at Rutgers, added,
 "The comment is that 'Kennedy has finally put on his landing pants.' They will never love us in those countries, but hitherto they have neither liked or respected us."

Playing Chicken. "We're on a collision course. It's like the game of chicken which teenagers play. Kennedy is threatening to get those rockets out of Cuba. I don't think an invasion should be ruled out at all - but I don't know whether the military have the six divisions they estimate they'll need."

He laughed shortly. "A year and a half ago, all they needed were a few extra planes!"

The Bay of Pigs fiasco, Dr.
 Ely said, probably inspired Khrushchev that Kennedy was weak. "Certainly the Latin American countries had no respect for us after that."

The Cuban invaders, he recalled, "went in expecting support - which never came."
 They fought until they ran out of ammo. One of my contacts was captured. He's still in prison.

"But if the invaders had been able to make a quick clean thing of it, there would have been screams and everything else—but it would have been accepted."

The typical reaction of informed responsible people who discussed the aborting invasion with Dr. Ely during his recent trip to 16 of the 21 countries of the hemisphere was, "You always should take a leaf out of Britain's book in the Nineteenth Century. You should do what is in the best interests of the U.S. Because you are decent people, this should be in the best interests of the hemisphere. Don't worry so much about world opinion."

Neither Cuba nor Turkey are essential to either of us any more, Dr. Ely stated. "But Kennedy is committed. The feeling is that we have the obligation. The Russians are going to put the host on in Belin, anyway."

The Pawn. Dr. Ely described the man who spent two days at the Ely home on Constitution Hill. "Castro no longer calls the shots. You know what happened between the devil and Daniel Webster. In the time comes when you have to pay up. He needed economic help and he fell like a ripe plum into the Russians' lap."

"He sees himself as the Twentieth Century Simon Barthelem. But he's an opportunist, here, you could see that he was definitely unstable. It was in his eyes. Actually, he'd like to be top banana in the entire Latin American community.
 And the only way Castro could achieve his ends was to get some Big Brother to back him up."

Paper Tiger. "The legend persists that he had nowhere else to turn," Dr. Ely went on.
 "Let us go back to April, 1959.
 The State Department was ready, willing and able to assist. I have discussed this with Cuban and U.S. officials who attended a top-level meeting during Castro's Washington sojourn."

Castro, instead of following through with his social reforms, manufactured this paper tiger out of the U.S. to justify his centralization of power and the setting up of a

So on the four issues they think are the most critical ones facing the Township, they close their campaign by making these pledges:

ON TAXES:

"We will work to create a favorable climate for new tax-rates in the Township's Research Zone - because this is THE ONLY WAY a brake can be put on soaring taxes."

(Before this can happen, the whole approach and attitude of the one-party Township Committee must be REVERSED. Please look back at Foley's this is their MOST IMPORTANT statement to the voters in the entire campaign.)

ON SEWERS:

"We will vigorously oppose the Great Road Sewer until
 (a) a fair plan to finance it is worked out to protect the general taxpayer in this $350,000 project;
 (b) the critically-needed improvements in the central sewer system are made; and
 (c) the Hillside-Route 206 sewer is designed, financed and started."

ON WATER:

"We will, at the very least, turn a bright searchlight on the suspicious, behind-the-scenes maneuverings of the Water Company and the one-party Township Committee. We will use every means at our disposal to make this medieval monopoly responsible to public authority in matters affecting health."

ON CONSOLIDATION:

"We will support all genuine efforts to bring about a full study of consolidation before it is too late to make any difference - and we will promptly expose any delaying tactics, foot-dragging or misrepresentation we may uncover."

PROGRESS (?) IN 1962 — A CHECKLIST

Our opponents have run under the banner "Continue the Progress." Is it the

Do you call THIS progress?
 Do you REALLY want another year like 1962?
 Just remember how your one-party
 Township Committee handled...

TAXES
 Total surrender to an ever-rising tax rate.

GREAT ROAD SEWER

DOG CONTROL
 Bungled it so thoroughly that the Township had its biggest emotional hassle in years.

PLANNING & ZONING
 Such chaos and lack of confidence that citizens are organizing special groups to protect their interests.

WATER
 Total surrender to a private company that has scored 4 strikes in one year and is still at bat.

OTHER SEWER PROBLEMS
 Only "improvement" in the system was another by-pass to make it possible for more raw sewage to get into Lake Carnegie.

RECREATION
 Success... in bringing all recreation planning and development to a grinding halt.

STREET CLOSINGS

criticism, even in 1959. He needs education and reassurance... and this is provided by the clever communists around him."

Nationalists the Losers. It was Castro's early supporters who were the first to suffer, Dr. Ely believes. "They were extreme nationalists — not communist middle class which put him in."

"They masterminded the underground, obtained supplies, got him support from abroad. The people at the bottom of the social scale were inarticulate or indifferent. It is true that the peasants in Oriente did cooperate, but there was no large uprising of the sugar workers."

About the Princeton Visit. When Castro came to Princeton, Dr. Ely says, "I had a wait-and-see attitude. We all knew he was an unstable kind of man. But some of my colleagues who were in his early government suggested that he make a non-government, non-business visit to an American community."

"In March of 1959, I talked with the minister of agriculture, whose plans for reform were very sensible. I checked with Secretary of State Herter and Ambassador Bensch, and the visit was arranged."

"If only," Dr. Ely says ruefully, "Castro had been smart enough to stick to his own ship and make it a showpiece. But trouble began when he tried to subvert other Latin American countries. (When I was in Costa Rica in August, I saw a plane load of 60 hand-picked men take off for Cuba via Mexico for special training courses.) And when he turned things over to the Russians—that was the end."

MOONLIGHTING TO WANE
Teachers' Pay to Rise

Teachers' Salary Schedule

(Ten-month contracts)

Educational Background	Current Scale	Proposed*
Four-year Level (bachelor's degree)	$4500 to 7800	$5200 to 9000
Five-year Level (master's degree)	$4800 to 8300	$5500 to 9500
Six-year Level	$5100 to 9100	$5800 to $10,000

*As approved by Borough and Township school boards, subject to voters' endorsement in February.

Teachers' salaries are about to go up in the Borough and Township. Both school boards have approved a schedule which will add from 0.5 to 11 percent to the budgets. The increase will place the two districts' salaries "well within" the top ten percent of the state's approximately 350 school districts.

"Competent teachers are the core of the educational system," said Richard Pearson, president of the Township board, who shared the joint announcement with Dr. Jeremiah S. Finch, vice-president of the Borough board. "Recently, other competitive districts have advanced beyond our present rates, making the recruitment process much more difficult."

The school officials stated that the new schedule "represents a realistic appraisal of the present economy and an attempt to interpret the future." The rates will not become fully effective until 1964.

The new salary scale for ten-month contracts ranges from $5,200 to $10,000. It also offers an opportunity to attain a maximum of $12,000, regardless of the training level of the teacher, in recognition of distinguished teaching performance. Sixty percent of the increase is to be applied in 1963.

The final effect in terms of tax points will not be known until complete budgets are ready for approval by the voters in February.

Also present at the announcement on a Saturday were Mrs. Sarah Strayer, of the Borough board; Mrs. Dorothy Schuch, Township board; Mrs. Mary Ballard, chairman of the Township Teachers' Association salary committee; Frank Soda, president of the Borough Teachers' Association; Mrs. Glenda Richards and Paul In-scho, Borough-Township liaison committee; Dr. John McKenna, Township superintendent of schools; and Dr. Chester R. Stroup, Borough schools superintendent.

Advanced Study Encouraged. A feature of the new scale is the encouragement it gives toward advanced study. "Through rate differentials, teachers will be encouraged to continue educational programs beyond the bachelor's degree in areas of relevant study," The representatives deplored the "haphazardness of the study carried on by the teachers" and stated that the teachers are now expected to consult with the school when planning.

The approved proposal was prepared by representatives of the two boards serving on a joint committee. Borough representatives were Dr. Fisch, chairman; Graham Rohrer, board president; Mrs. Bernice G. Miller, Mrs. Strayer, Dr. Elmer Hornigrausen and William K. Evans. Serving for the Township were Mrs. Dorothy Schuch, chairman, Mr. Pearson, Dr. Marion G. Epstein and Dr. Lawrence R. Thompson.

Affected by the new scale are 140 Borough teachers and 116 Township teachers. The township's yearly budget for teachers' salaries is "about $900,000" according to Dr. McKenna—most of which is for ten-months' contracts. The Borough's budget is slightly higher.

Dr. Finch commented for the group, "The problem of the cost of education is simply 'what do you want?' A strong corps of teachers is our most precious asset."

SALARIES GO UP
At University. To enhance the appeal of a university teaching career, Princeton has announced a $500 raise in the minimum salary scale for instructors, assistant professors and associate professors.

Under the new scale, effective 1963-64, instructors will be raised from $6,000 to $6,500 minimum; assistant professors from $7,000 to $7,500 and associate professors from $9,000 to $9,500. The $12,000 minimum for full professors will remain unchanged.

Average salaries in each rank will be raised by individual merit increases, according to President Robert E. Goheen. At present, there are 306 full-time faculty members at the University, plus 80 visiting professors and lecturers, and 89 assistants in instruction.

There are 178 professors, 98 associate professors, 121 assistant professors and 91 instructors. Another 519 persons are engaged in research, of whom 176 are part-time assistants.

"WE'RE THE CAPITAL"
Or Were, in 1783. "From an obscure little village, we have become the capital of America," said Ashbel Green a student at the College of New Jersey and later to become its president, in a letter written on July 5, 1783, to his father. "Instead of almost total isolation in town, nothing is to be seen or heard but the passing and rattling of wagons, coaches and chairs, the crying about of pine-apples, oranges, lemons and every luxurious article both foreign and domestic; marveled young Green in his letter home.

The occasion for the bustle was the arrival in Princeton of the Continental Congress which found shelter in Nassau Hall from June 26 to November 4 from the turbulence of crisis in Philadelphia.

A series of displays recalling this period will be a major highlight of the "Festival of the Arts," which opens at Miss Fine's School this Saturday to run through Tuesday. The Festival will be open from 10 to 5 Saturday, noon to 5 Sunday and 5 to 10 p.m. Monday and Tuesday evenings. Adult admission will be $1.50, children's 50 cents. Proceeds will benefit the May Margaret Fine Endowment Fund which supports scholarship aid and faculty salaries at Miss Fine's School.

In addition to the historic display, the Festival will have a Contemporary Art section and a Loan Show of important works of art owned by Princeton residents.

"Yes" for Parks
Mercer County voters will be asked to set the machinery in motion for a 15,000-acre county park system by voting "yes" on Tuesday on the County Park Commission referendum.

Following passage of the referendum, a Commission would be appointed to acquire park land, develop it for conservation and recreation, and operate it for the benefit of Mercer County residents.

The County's plans include an addition to the Herrontown Wood area presently owned by the County in Princeton Township, a stream-valley park along Stony Brook, a camping-picnicking area in Hope well Township near the Delaware, a large park in West Windsor which would have an outdoor amphitheatre, bridle paths and playing fields and possibly six county parks along the Millstone and Crosswicks Creek.

TOWNSHIP VOTERS are a "yes" vote on this measure. A formal notice on the referendum appears on page 26.

Among the displays to be mounted in the exhibit hall, will be silver which had been buried in the "Morven" woods to escape British detection during the occupation of Princeton; furniture made at "Morven" under commission from Mrs. Richard Stockton for her daughter's wedding; silver made by Elias Boudinet, Sr. who was not only a silversmith but also the postmaster in Princeton and other places in Princeton by Daniel Van Voorhis, a silversmith of great skill. A desk, whose documents show it to have been in "Rockingham" when a Washington stayed there, will also be displayed.

A pamphlet, "The Continental Congress at Princeton, 1783," written especially for the Festival by Gary B. Nash with illustrations by Gillett Griffin, will be sold for $1.25 and later, in bookstores, for $1.50. Designed in 18th century style, the pamphlet uses some very old, rare type for its title page.

The Contemporary section of the Festival will show modern paintings, sculpture, prints and handicrafts, all for sale at reasonable prices. In the Loan Show, the Festival will display a van Gogh, and works by Monet, Renoir, Reynolds, Gainsborough, Sisley, Pissarro, Rautenbach, Derain, Vuillard and Constable.

Paintings will be hung in rooms furnished with period furniture which is also on loan from the collections assembled by Princeton residents.

TELSTAR MADE THEM

Of International Fame. The theme of the YWCA International Festival will center around Telstar. A model of the international television system will be displayed at the Y to symbolize the world-wide coverage of the association.

Scheduled to take place Friday through Sunday, Nov.

Person To Person

We were reading about the origins of some of the proverbs with which we're all familiar. We discovered that the saying, "You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," has an equivalent in almost every language. For example, in China they say, "The world does not come from a rat's mouth." It's interesting to see that this little piece of simple wisdom is shared by people all over the world. And although our adage about the silk purse is so old that its origin can't be traced, it still applies to our lives today. We can expect rich and beautiful things only from good sources. How well this applies to business. We know that it takes a sound business firm to give you the excellent service that you demand, and we're constantly looking for new ways to meet your needs better. That's why you can always expect the best service from us. Kammerling-Buck-Pontiac Co. Route 200, near Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

member 10-18, the festival will feature lectures on Telstar on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30. Talks on the Holy Land and Africa will be given also on the first night.

Books, the selling specialties from various foreign lands, will open from 8-10 Friday evening. On Saturday, they will remain in operation from 10 to 10.

Opening ceremonies will be held on November 17, presenting residents of Princeton and others from throughout the world now living here. A special attraction on Saturday will give area youngsters an opportunity to ride on the Chestnut Ridge Riding Club. They will be available from 11 to 3.

Co-chairmen of the affair are Mrs. Paul Bortell, Jr., and Mrs. Leonard Newton, both assisting in the pony-riding program are Meghan McAndrews, Deborah Young, Sandy and Jean Stahl, Lisheth Johnson and Cintra Huber.

INDIAN FUND BEGUN

By Princeton Students. Twenty-five Indian nationals at Princeton University, the Institute for Advanced Study and the Theological Seminary have begun a fund-raising program to aid the defense of their homeland.

Initiated the Princeton Chapter of the Indian National Defense Fund, the students and researchers, collected more than $1,000 in the first 48 hours of their drive. Among the first contributors was Princeton's President Robert F. Goheen.

Dr. Goheen, who was born in India and resided there until the age of 15, has been named honorary chairman of the Princeton Chapter. In accepting the office, he stated that the presence of India by Red China should be a cause of concern to all Americans. "Indian students and researchers in the Princeton area," he continued, "in organizing a committee to raise contributions for the Indian National Defense Fund have my full support. I am pleased to be associated with this effort."

The Princeton Chapter is headed by Dr. Joseph C. Pati, a physicist at the Institute for Advanced Study. He is assisted by Pravin M. Visaria, secretary of the group and a fellow in Princeton University's Office of Population Research. The purpose of the drive was explained as "an effort to collect funds from outside India to minimize the diversion of resources from economic development to defense requirements." Contributions from Princeton residents may be sent to Dr. Jagdish J. Sharma, secretary of the chapter, at 367 Lakeside Apartments, Faculty Road.

HOW MANY MORE WATER "EPISODES" WILL IT TAKE?

... before the town fathers wake up to their responsibility for assuring the public an adequate and dependable water supply?

—On Sunday, October 28, at least 2 dozen Princeton families were getting foul-tasting water from the Princeton Water Company.
(By noon, the company admitted receiving that many calls.)

—For the 14th time in less than a year, the company failed to meet its public responsibility. (Three times there was something in the water that didn't belong there. Once there was no water!)

—For the 14th time in less than a year, the explanations made by the company's spokesmen were confused, contradictory, misleading.

HOW SOON WILL THE 5th "EPISODE" COME? ...AND THE 6th?...AND THE 7th?

Last June, on the basis of what he learned during 3 years on the Township Committee, William Marvel published certain serious charges against the water company and its relationship to the Township Committee. His letter ended as follows:

"Things have come to a pass where the citizens of Princeton, offended at every turn by the Water Company, should demand that their governing councils lay on a full-dress investigation of the Water Company, carried out in the full sunlight of high noon, rather than behind the drawn shades of 166 Nassau Street. Where something so vital as the community's water supply is at stake, Princeton cannot tolerate this kind of monopoly, this little autocracy. It is long overdue for our two governing councils to start behaving, in their relations with the Water Company, as though they were in charge."

Neither Township Committee nor Water Company has EVER answered or refuted ANY of Mr. Marvel's charges

THERE IS ONLY ONE POSSIBLE REASON: THEY CAN'T!

Are we condemned to go on forever with our water supply
under this kind of irresponsible control?

Will our governing bodies always be too timid to bring the private, profit-making water company into line?

Township Homes Entered

The homes of Mrs. Joseph Furch, Cherry Valley Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKinney, The Great Road, were ransacked by thieves last week.

Entry into the Furch home was gained by forcing a rear door last Thursday evening, according to Township Police. A small safe in a bedroom containing approximately $1000 was taken, as were three bottles of liquor, a transistor radio and cuff links. The entire house was ransacked, police said.

From the McKinney house, thieves took quantities of men's clothing, household and linen goods, and two power drills. The owners have not yet been able to estimate the value of the stolen items, police report.

A kitchen door was forced to gain entry. Detective Fred Porter is investigating both burglaries.

driving for UNICEF last Saturday collected $1,509.70, which is $175 more than last year's total, but still short of the 1962 goal of $1,962.

Householders who were out on Saturday night and missed the canvassers may send checks to UNICEF, care of Janet Jones, 73 Brookstone Drive.

At a dance following Saturday collection, a dance held to mark time while the money was being counted. Jerry Stokes and Penny Edwards were chosen UNICEF King and Queen. Susan Rugg was dance chairman.

THREE LICENSES

In Borough Court, Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tans, Jr. revoked the licenses of three area motorists in traffic court Monday.

Donald A. Johnson, 24 111 Birch Avenue, and Greven DiMeglio, 19, 93 Birch Avenue, each had his license revoked 15 days for careless driving. In addition, Mr. Johnson was fined $20 and Mr. DiMeglio, $15. George H. Stow, 28, 1 Parkway Avenue, Plainboro, lost his license for 45 days and was fined $10 for speeding.

Fines of $10 were levied against Mrs. Karen Benning, 42, 102 Battle Road, unregistered vehicle, and Mrs. Sheila M. Hendry, 52, 271 Hawthorne Avenue, disobeying traffic officer's signal.

Fred Schurtz, 53, Canal Road, and Curtis Campanette, 23, 42 Park Place, were each fined $10. Mr. Schurtz on a late inspection charge and Mr. Campanette, no license in possession. Both pleaded not guilty.

NEXT: "ANTIGONE"

At Public Library. Group discussions based on McCarter Theatre's "Mediterranean Heritage" plays will continue next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Princeton Public Library with "Antigone," led by Professor Whitney J. Oates of the University faculty.

The Sophocles play, like the others in McCarter's series, is available at the library for reading before curtain hour. Those who would like to attend the discussion have been asked to call the library at WA 4-9229 for reservations because of space limitations in the building.

Another series of group discussions of "Mediterranean Heritage" plays has been scheduled by McCarter Theatre. See "News of the Theatre."

STARGAZERS, LTD.

Astronomers to Unite. A meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. Monday to organize an amateur astronomer association of Princeton and vicinity. The session will be held in Room 120 at Princeton High School.

Those 18 years of age and over who wish to broaden their knowledge in this field are invited to attend. The association will be devoted to astronomical observation, lectures and discussion.

On Soviet Trips, Dr. Ludmilla B. Turkevich, professor of Russian at Douglass College, will address the Douglass Alumnae Club of the Princeton area next Wednesday. The meeting will begin at 8 at the home of Miss Emily Post, 90 Westcott Road.

Dr. Turkevich, chairman of the College's Russian department, will speak and show slides of a recent trip to the Soviet Union. All alumnae members and their guests are invited to attend.

Mrs. Ronald Rogers, president of the group, has announced the committee chairman for the coming year. They are Mrs. Robert Lauer, program; Mrs. Val Fitch, hospitality; Mrs. Haig Ksavian, scholarship; Mrs. Robert R. Meyers, nominating; Miss Post and Mrs. Robert Imhoff, pecan sale; and Mrs. Manfred Piper, publicity.

CLUBS PLAN RALLY

For Democratic Candidates. The Democratic Clubs of West Windsor, East Windsor, Washington Township and Hightstown Borough will sponsor a Democratic rally on Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Elks Club, Route 120, Hightstown.

These candidates will attend: Congressman Frank Thompson, Freehold; Arthur Sypek, Richard Coffee; Robert Frandsen of West Windsor; Frank Mesnon of East Windsor; Stanley Shyer of Washington Township; Elmer Ewart, Addison Bennett and George Warshany, all of Hightstown. Refreshments will be served.

VIEWING SET

At Princeton Library. T. S. Eliot's "The Wasteland" will be the subject of Channel 13's television program to be shown at Princeton Public Library Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The program will include a discussion of the poem following the television presentation. Stephen Hilliard, a Princeton University graduate student, will conduct the discussion which is open to all.

MEETING PLANNED

By Childbirth League. The Princeton Childbirth Education League will feature Dr. Ashley Montagu as its speaker at Tuesday's meeting. Dr. Montagu will discuss "Prenatal Influences."

A member of the International Childbirth Association, he is a well-known sociologist and writer. The meeting will take place at the First Presbyterian Church, beginning at 8:30. The program, which will include a discussion period and coffee hour, is open to all.

COPS AND TOTS GET TOGETHER IN BOROUGH HALL: The Princeton Borough Police Department held open house last week and, judging from the response, school children and the officers themselves had a grand time. Upper left, Hattie Gaull and Henry Lane, both 7, of Miss Fine's School's second grade, play desperately in one of the Borough's three small jail cells. To the right, Sgt. James M. Kopliner displays a luminous cape worn by traffic officers. Examining a display of weapons confiscated from juveniles (lower left) are Bruce Golden, 10, and George Somers, 9, (foreground) fifth-graders from St. Paul's School. To the right are the leaders who oversee the department, standing next to a display of a police officer's personal equipment. They are, (left) William H. Walker, II, Borough Police Commissioner, Chief of Police Peter J. McMahon. With them is Patrolman John J. Bellow, Jr. Lt. Francis Maquire (right) presided at the event, as did a number of adults on Thursday evening.

SERVICE PLANNED
For Veterans' Day, Princeton Post 76, American Legion, will hold its annual Veterans' Day service on Sunday, November 11, at 11 a.m. at the War Memorial, Stockton and Mercer Streets.

The public service honors the memory of those who fought and died for the United States. Since the service falls on Sunday this year, it is hoped that a large number of Princeton area residents will attend.

The Princeton Post was host this week for the regular meeting of the County American Legion organization. Henry W. Ryan, Mercer County's first department commander since the late Lester Black II, died that post in 1938-39, spoke on legion matters in New Jersey and reported on the National American Legion Convention.

COURSES CONSIDERED

For Teacher Certification. The Princeton branch of the American Association of University Women is conducting a survey to determine whether it would be feasible to present educational courses for credit toward teacher certification and, perhaps, a master's degree at colleges in the area. The AAUW and courses such as "Principles and Practices of Elementary Education" and "Child Growth and Development," in addition to more specialized subjects, could be taught by area colleges if there were sufficient interest. At present these courses are available only in Trenton and New Brunswick.

The program would be open to anyone presently teaching or interested in becoming certified to teach. Those interested in taking these courses beginning in January 1963 or the following fall are asked to call Mrs. David Wilder at Walnut #4274.

AUTO SHOW PLANNED

By GM Dealers. General Motors dealers of greater Trenton will hold an auto show this Thursday through Saturday at the Lawrence Shopping Center. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday, and 10 to 6 on Saturday. The show will be one of the largest car displays in this area. It will be the only opportunity to see all the General Motors line at one location.

Fifty 1963 Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac cars will be available for inspection. The Tenselstedt Division plant of General Motors will display its "Tenselstedt Car," a "see-through" auto showing all the parts manufactured by Tenselstedt. Admission to the show will be free. The Hamilton Township Band, under the direction of James Keefe, will entertain on Thursday and Friday nights from 7 to 9. The participating dealers are Gilbert and Matt Chevrolet, Bunderbuck Chevrolet, Coleman Buick, Calhoun Pontiac, Johnson Oldsmobile and Colonial Cadillac.

ANNUAL GIVING STARTS

At University. Princeton University opened its 23rd Annual Giving Campaign for funds for current operating expenses this week. The drive will seek to establish a level of $2,000,000 in yearly contributions. Earlier drives have netted a total of $15,243,671. Contributions for each of the past seven years have exceeded $1,000,000. The last three drives were conducted simultaneously with the university's $53,000,000 capital gifts campaign, which ended last spring.

Last year's Annual Giving Campaign accounted for $1,451,687, with 66.9 percent of the alumni contributing, in addition to parents and friends. Arthur H. Horton is executive director of the Annual Giving Office. Horace W. Moody is secretary for regions; Ralph K. Ritchie, secretary for class agents; and Norman A. Ballantine, secretary for parents.

TOUR PLANNED

Of Forrestal Center. The Town and Country Interest Group of the Newcomers' Club of the XWCA will take a guided tour of the James Forrestal Research Center on Friday.

The group will leave from the Y at 9:30 a.m. Nursery care will be provided for children of members. Dolores J. Cantrill is chairman for the program.

EXHIBITION PLANNED

By Area Artists. An exhibition of paintings by professional and amateur artists of the area will be shown from this Friday through Saturday, November 10. The display will take place from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day except Sunday, November 4, at Allen's Flowers in Hopewell.

Sponsored by the Woman's Club of Hopewell in celebration of National Art Week, the exhibition will feature the works of Howard A. Patterson. Mr. Patterson, an organizer of the first Art Week in the early 1920's, has displayed his paintings throughout the United States and abroad.

William J. Monaghan, a member of the Hopewell School faculty, will also participate in the show. His works, principally in oil, have been exhibited in New York and Philadelphia. Mrs. W. S. Bodine and Mrs. Carl Hillman Jr., members of the Woman's Club, will be among the amateur artists who will display their works. Mrs. Donald Allen, chairman of the club's Art Committee, is assistant.

Why Plan to Vote Republican Democratic

By John S. Mount

By George Goldsmith

I am going to vote for John Green and Carl Schafer, the Republican candidates for Township Committee. I am going to vote for these men because Princeton means a great deal to me and I want to see it continue to be the fine town it is.

I honestly don't know how these men stand on the issues of dog restraint, fluid milk or sidewalk shoveling. I do, however, know how they stand on what I consider to be the three most important issues in this election.

First: Schafer and Green have come forward with a sensible approach to the problems of pollution and sewer extensions in the Township. They offer specific proposals toward the strengthening of the Sewer Operating Committee.

They propose that the sewer plant and sewer system be run by a full-time salaried engineer reporting only to the operating committee with a full-time staff reporting only to him. At the same time Green and Schafer have said they will support continued extensions of the present system in accordance with the plans drawn up by professional engineering consultants. Green and Schafer's opponents on the other hand offer only invectives and such words as "sewer," "disgrace" and the like, but offer no positive suggestions.

Second: Green and Schafer agree with the majority in both Borough and Township that a consolidated Princeton appears preferable to the present status. However, they point out that this is an extremely involved and important step and at this time no one has attempted to collect all the available facts or project the possible results.

This Green and Schafer ask that we first investigate the proposition before making up our minds. It could be that this reluctant maiden we pursue is not the girl we think she is.

Furthermore, I know personally of several instances where Green and Schafer's interest in consolidation has already contributed toward more fruitful discussions between Council and Committee. By contrast the Democrats urge us to rush headlong into consolidation. There is no question about the subject they say. Apparently, these men know all the facts. I don't and I haven't yet met a single rational person who does.

Third: For about six years Princeton Township has been deeply involved in intricate and interwoven research and study toward the formation of a master plan. One of the foremost considerations in all of this planning has been the stabilization of the tax rate. Out of these studies have come significant and firm Township policies on such matters as industry, apartments, lot sizes, recreation, open space and road development.

Green and Schafer want to continue these policies and to continue to implement the plans as they develop. This position will lead the Township to tax stability.

The Democratic candidates, however, tell us in effect that the six years of work put in by citizen committees, the planning board, the Township Committee and the professional planners has yielded wrong results. Bring in industry they tell us, because it will solve our tax problems. All these other people who studied the problem are apparently wrong.

Finally, I suggest that we must all be wary of the motives of men who in order to capture a seat on the Township Committee, stoop to malign their fellow Princetonians who have served so diligently. Political campaigners do this

Princeton is a community esthetically and socially unique. It is a delightful island amidst the surround of a sprawling urban megalopolis which covers the greater area reaching from Boston to Washington.

We cannot help but view its tree shaded streets and broad lawns with pleasure and with pride as a place in which to live, to work, and to raise and educate our families. Our schools are probably unequaled among public school systems, we enjoy the pleasures and pastimes provided by the presence of a great university and generally may partake of the advantages of a bright stimulating environment. This is the way it is and this is the way we wish to keep it.

Keeping it this way is accomplished, however, neither by resisting change nor by ignoring the restless revolutionary times in which we live. We would no more be preserving Princeton's character, its advantages and opportunities, in this way than would the University be retaining its honored position among educational institutions by remaining the same as it was a decade ago. We cannot stagnate because here stagnation is synonymous with decay; and even retention of "status quo" requires constant growth and change. To meet these demands of our generation and to serve its obligations to future generations raises problems the solution of which requires careful consideration, systematic planning and an ample measure of decisiveness.

I do not believe these requirements have been met adequately in recent years. All too often decisions have been made and problems approached through a myopic view of the immediate situation.

Our delightful island, bounded as it is by a damned up stream fast on its way to becoming the largest open sewer in the Western World, threatened alternately by dangerous water shortages and by sewerage steeped deluges, in reality does not present an idyllic picture; nor does an archaic administrative dichotomy with its wasteful duplication of services and offices reflect the ultimate in efficient civic progress.

Our growing traffic jams (soon to be compounded by the closing off of the back yard of our biggest resident) and our failure to provide adequate space for parks and future school sites do not demonstrate the vigorous progressive foresight we know we possess.

A good community to live in must also be a good community to live with, a community which provides adequately for all its citizens, and which serves no particular group to the disadvantage of others. Our disgraceful failure to act speedily on approaches to tax relief and on cost-benefit studies is putting us well on the way to becoming a dormitory for the privileged. The young people who work with us and for us in our schools, our offices and our laboratories, and toward whom we look for future leadership must have the opportunity to be part of us now.

This catalogue of problems is all too familiar to all of us. While it is nonsense to pretend that the solutions are either simple or self-evident, the abundant liturgy with which the present Township Committee has met them is entirely evident. We can afford to remain any longer on this administrative treadmill.

MRS. HUGHES AT HOME
Day Starts Early. A Princeton housewife had about 30 of the girls in for lunch one day last week. No bridge, just a lot of pleasant talk and a visit with the five-year-old and a chance to coo at the baby when he woke up from his nap.

The housewife was Mrs. Richard Hughes of "Morven" and the occasion was a luncheon for newspapermen on the staffs of New Jersey newspapers.

"I decided to have this kind of mass party," Mrs. Hughes explained, as she went around to each table during lunch, "because lots of people have phoned for interviews, and what with the baby's birth and illness and then summer vacation, I haven't had much time."

"Besides," she laughed, "we have a house-full of free flower arrangements left over from a 'fortuitous' celebration a couple of days ago."

A Hearty Hostess. Related and informal, chatty and pleasantly the extrovert, Mrs. Hughes discussed with candor the domestic life of the state's First Family, ranging from how-to-get-the-laundry-done to an explanation of the eye operation to be performed soon on the baby.

Young Thomas. More Hughes, six months old, has been freed from the heart lesion that plagued his early weeks. But doctors have informed Governor and Mrs. Hughes that the baby has catarrhs on both eyes. An eye specialist at Children's Hospital, Philadelphia, will operate November 9, and the baby's eyes, removing the catarrhs, removing the lenses.

"You can't wear contact glasses until you're 12," explained Mrs. Hughes. "So the baby will have to wear eyeglasses—can you imagine?"

BETTY AND HONEY. Honey Hughes came home from kindergarten at St. Paul's School Thursday in time to greet the newspapermen her mother had invited for lunch. "Cursey," her mother said, "the curly might best be described as perfunctory." "A FEEL curly," Mrs. Hughes admonished. Honey curtsied again, fully. Mrs. Hughes' description of domestic life at "Morven" appears on this page. (Staff Photo) ried around his head with a gauze bandage. He won't get used to them for quite a while, of course, but apparently you just have to keep at it until one day he accepts them."

Thomas was introduced at dessert time. He surveyed the admiring guests with a cool eye, although with a smile, and showed no inclination to go beyond his mother's arms.

"He wakes up about 6," Mrs. Hughes told her guests, "I keep thinking that if I'm very quiet and everybody is very quiet and I change him very slowly, he'll go back to sleep. Why do I keep thinking that? He never does."

All In The Wash. Because of the size of the Hughes family children, but not all in residence at any one time, a large life is on a do-it-yourself basis at "Morven."

The children do their own laundry after they get to be 10 years old. Mrs. Hughes said, "Ironing too, except for the boys' shirts. We've got a washer and drier and the boys use the washer as a sort of clothes hamper and the drier as a clean-clothes depot."

Mrs. Hughes is equally self-reliant. In response to a reporter who asked whether she did her own shopping, Mrs. Hughes said, "Yes," and when the reporter persisted, asking "Clothes shopping or food?" Mrs. Hughes laughed. "Clothes aren't very important around here, it's food—that's the important thing I have to shop for with a family like this."

She pushes her own cart around the groceries, occasionally meeting somebody who thinks she looks familiar.

"A woman stopped me and said, 'Anybody ever tell you how much you look like Mrs. Hughes?' and I said, 'You mean I look like those newspaper pictures.'"

Travel to the supermarket is not the only venture outside Morven made by Mrs. Hughes although she does not go out as much as her predecessor, Mrs. Robert Meyer.

"I love to go anywhere," she said, "I love Jersey City or New York, but I travel with our family, as I like moving an aim."

Gov. Hughes is the family driver and Mrs. Hughes told the newspapermen that his schedule can be so full that he and his wife are only able to dine together once in two weeks.

CUBAN BLOCKADE APPROVED: Both Edward Gallagher (left) and Dick Sudlow endorse President Kennedy's decision to blockade Cuba. For other comments on this fateful step, see below.

Question of the Week

QUESTION OF THE WEEK ...
Question: What is your opinion of President Kennedy's decision to blockade Cuba?
Where asked: Palmer Square.

Edward Gallagher, 106 Kamefield, Pa., general sales manager, L. S. H. & Kane: "I think it was a wise decision because the proximity of bases in Cuba make it virtually impossible to set up a defense system. Under the circumstances, I feel it was the only choice he had. I don't think the blockade will lead to a war; in fact, I feel over the long run it will have served as a deterrent to war."

Richard Sudlow, Orchard Farm, Kingston, foreign car sales manager, Labriere-Kane: "I think President Kennedy had a very difficult decision to make, as its outcome could bring nuclear war. I am delighted to see that he has forced the Russians to back down and, at the moment, the situation seems to be favoring us. I feel this is a true reflection of his ability, then perhaps he will be able to avoid war in the future."

Mrs. John Simon, 31 Bank Street, librarian: "Well, I don't see anybody doesn't get any romantic ideas about war and pull the trigger too soon. I don't like living under Russian intimidation anymore than anyone else. I just hope this thing can be settled peacefully." E. Kennedy.

Charles Seachtard, 103 1/2 Linden Lane, mail carrier: "I approve of it. Like everybody says, Cuba has become a thorn in our side that must be removed. Castro has been degrading us at every turn by refusing to take our objections to the United Nations, by hiding their military build-up. I'm 100% behind Kennedy all the way. God only knows what will happen now."

Mrs. A. Morton Good, 105 Wilson Road, housewife: "I think it is an excellent idea but I think it should have been done a lot sooner. I think this country missed the boat by not following up the invaders when they went in at the Bay of Pigs."

Edward Muehlenfeld, University sophomore: "The ROTC officers here should have been taken along these lines a lot sooner. I think that there should have been a better support of the invasion by the Nationals. But right now I feel that they should have been taken along these lines a lot sooner. I think that there should have been a better support of the invasion by the Nationals. But right now I feel that they should have been taken along these lines a lot sooner."

Mrs. Marian Irvine, 6 Greenbloom, practical nurse: "I feel the President was provoked into doing it. There is no question it was timely something was done. I hope to goodness it will come out all right. I feel worried over what will happen when we meet their ships down there. I feel President Kennedy has been very courageous. I think he has done the right thing and I think the country is behind him."

Warren Baker, 16 Stockton Street, production supervisor for Johnson & Johnson: "I approve of it very much. In fact, I think we should have done it sooner. I think Russia will back down in Cuba but will try to blockade Berlin to put pressure on us somewhere else."

Mrs. Albridge C. Smith III, 62 Hodge Road, housewife: "I feel it was high time. I was very glad to see President Kennedy take a strong stand. Now we'll just have to wait and see what happens."

Glugh P. Vaughan, Grovers Mill, sales executive: "I think it is a very good thing because, basically, by doing this now we will prevent Cuba from getting hold of atomic weapons and using them irreversibly and, by meeting force with force, will prevent an outbreak of world war such as happened in 1939."

Mrs. Ruth Blydenburgh, 30 Linden Lane, bookkeeper for Lyons Market: "The only thing I can say about it is that the United States is going to be on top instead of behind as it was in Pearl Harbor. We've made the initial step this time. I go along with the President's decision for the simple reason you have to be behind him whenever our country's safety is concerned."

Gordon E. Fogg, London, England, professor, University of London: "Given the facts, I feel it was the only possible choice he could make. I feel it could lead to war but probably not. Russia has some sense, I trust."

Herbert Gerjoux, 24 Maple Street, psychologist: "I think it is a serious step but a necessary one. The consequences might be serious but inaction on our part must have had even more serious results."

Mrs. Charles Young, 78 Stockton Street, housewife: "I feel that's the only thing he could do, the poor man. The sooner the better is the way I feel about it."

Sanli Topozulu, Turkey, graduate student, department of politics, oriental studies: "To me, it was an appropriate action. If the U.S. didn't blockade Cuba, it would encourage the Russians to continue to brazen in supplying arms to Cuba and in their actions toward the United States."

Dr. Bryant Wedge, Hopewell, social psychiatrist: "My view is he didn't have much alternative. I approve of it. I think he acted in a reasonable, restrained and considerable firmness, which is what the situation called for. I think we will only result in more jockeying between the United States and Russia. I think the outcome is too sane a man to enter into an all out war over it."

John Brent, 57 Birch Avenue, owner of Janitorial service: "I think it was a little thing to do but it was a little late. I feel if we had acted the minute we knew Russia was supplying them with arms instead of waiting till now, we would have prevented this showdown between us and Russia on the open sea."

Fate of House Mourned.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The impending destruction of the 130-year-old Stradman house at 44 Washington Road was the sorrowful subject of a meeting on October 10 of the Executive Committee of the Historical Society of Princeton.

While it was recognized that nothing can now be done to save this particular structure from the unfortunate train of circumstances that has doomed it, it was agreed that the Historical Society, with the support of like-minded residents of Princeton, should make a determined effort to prevent similar losses in the future.

The Committee is now studying such steps as have been taken by other communities to safeguard their inheritance, with the expectation of offering a practicable recommendation in the near future.

RICHARD V. LINDBURGY

Hile's Charges Related.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Last week you published a letter from John Hile, Democratic candidate for the Township Committee, in which he protested the closing of College Road by Princeton University. In Mr. Hile's language, this illustrated the "contempt the University administration has for the community of Princeton"; "the University administration has effectively humbled its nose at the community"; and "the attitude of the administration seems to be 'the town be damned.'"

Without attempting here to balance the University's needs as against the public convenience, I submit that Mr. Hile's indictments of the University are wholly unwarranted. The University has shown its concern for the town of Princeton in countless ways.

To mention but a few, I would cite the impetus it has given to the Route 92 by-pass and other proposed improvements in our road system; its permission for the use of vital recreational facilities such as Carnegie Lake, the tennis courts, Baker Rink, athletic fields, McCarter Theatre, etc.; its public invitations to numerous lectures, concerts, exhibits and conferences; and the whole complex of its educational, research and cultural activities which literally put Princeton on the map.

The Township Committee and the Borough Council have taken issue with the University on various matters from time to time, but these have heretofore been resolved with mutual understanding and good-will. If Mr. Hile were elected to the Township Committee, one wonders how effective his antagonistic approach would be in dealing with the University, the Borough Council, and other bodies from whom the Township, in order to achieve its purposes, must often secure willing cooperation.

Reply to Republicans.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Two letters in your October 28 issue contribute to both learning and entertainment in Princeton.

The first by Paul C. Alford, Jr., raps the Democratic candidates for Borough Council because they are not property holders. Mr. Alford certainly knows that the property requirement for holding public office in America was abolished more than a century ago—or do the Republicans want to turn the clock back that far? In Princeton, numerous Councilmen have been elected who were not property holders.

In addition, Mr. Alford pleads for re-election of Republican candidates on the ground of experience. Particularly, he cites Mr. Sorenson's experience in the operation of sewers.

Does he realize that the condition of the sewer system has become precarious under Mr. Sorenson's guidance . . . that West End sewers are likely to burst and cost more to repair than new sewers would cost . . . that the Joint Water Board, on the premises facing the Borough Council, has reached a new record low in effectiveness?

The experience of Mr. Walker led him to proclaim last night that "the days of the volunteer are numbered and the future will see a paid fire department in Princeton." As a long-term resident of Princeton and as an office-holder, Mr. Walker should have known of the excellent work of Princeton's volunteer fire companies give it the lowest possible fire insurance.

Why then should the days of the volunteer be numbered? Even when a consolidation comes, as eventually it must, our volunteer fire department should be preserved . . . until Mr. Walker can prove that a professional department will cost less or do more.

The other letter calling for reply is the wily swinging roundhouse from Frank F. Schley. Mr. Schley seems to think that because one Democrat sat on Township Committee, he could control it and is therefore responsible for its failure to vote on consolidation.

Not even the most rabid partisan claims that one Democrat can lick four Republicans. Who is Mr. Schley trying to kid? And what progress have a 100% Republican Borough Council and Township Committee made towards cooperation, much less consolidation?

"Over the Great Divide."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Right on schedule, there was a new development on the consolidation front. I wrote two weeks ago that something was due to happen on the consolidation study, according to the signals that were flashing, and that these "something's" seemed always to occur at a certain brief interval before elections.

But crystal balls aside, I want to congratulate the mayors on having appointed their steering group on the merger study. I hope this is the step we have all been waiting for, and if it is, it will certainly have my enthusiastic support.

The mayors would have been wise, I believe, to have postponed their announcement somewhat, so as to have removed all suspicion that their timing was influenced by the election. If the decision to proceed with this plan was made away back in June, a couple of more weeks wouldn't have mattered. And I wish the machinery they are going to set up didn't look so cumbersome. After all, studying the basic issues in consolidation is not such a monumental job that it needs an intricate apparatus of multiple committees, subcommittees, steering groups, etc.

Still, when all's said and done, one never sets everything one wishes for in life or in politics. What has been done is good news, and we seem to be over the great divide on this one. So thanks to those who have agreed to serve, and let's get on with the job!

And by the way, several friends have asked me about that letter Frank Schley published last week. They were wondering who this was who emerged so dramatically on the political scene.

I told them I was sure Frank didn't intend it as a personally unfriendly way as it seemed, because he and I are Big Brothers together in 11141a Guides. You see, we both belong to the Apaches (he as Big Ben and I as Big Moose) and when we have our tribal sessions every two weeks, our motto is "Falls Forever."

G.O.P. Position Station.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Recently, in a pertinent letter, the Democrat candidates for the Borough Council have stated that they do not know the position of the Republican candidates and Council members, Bill Walker and Al Sorenson, on the problems facing the Borough. Inasmuch as neither of the Democrat candidates has taken the time to attend more than one or two Borough Council meetings in the last six months, it is no wonder that they do not know the position of the Republican candidates on all the issues and problems facing the Borough. As Council members, Walker's and Sorenson's position is one of public record.

Funds raised by YWCA members across the United States make possible advisory service, program grants and personnel training. In Princeton, these funds are raised through the International Festival—a variety of booths from different countries, children's entertainment and a special tables—to be held November 16-18.

Climaxing the Festival and World Fellowship Week will be a tea on the 19th which will be open to the community. Invitations have been sent to all foreign students studying in this area.

UNITS ALMOST READY

In Hospital Remodeling. The first stage of Princeton Hospital's major remodeling and renovation program will be completed by December 1. John W. Kaufman, hospital administrator, announced this week.

The expanded Maternity Department is scheduled for completion by November 15 and the new Pediatric Department by December 1. Phase one also includes the addition of several medical and surgical beds to nursing units designated A1 and A2. Work on these two units began last August.

When the Maternity and Pediatric wing is completed, the Hospital will begin immediately on the second stage of its renovation program which includes an entirely new Reheated Intensive Care unit next to the operating room. This new unit is designed to concentrate in one area all patients, so seriously ill critically, so that they can have constant observation and care.

Following this phase of its program, the Hospital will begin the third stage, which will include final work on the Maternity Department, the relocation of the recovery room and remodeling of the operating suite. Completion of this part will depend on an addition to the boiler room which will be necessary to serve the new areas, Mr. Kaufman said.

WATER IS TOPIC

Of Public Meeting. The newly-organized Princeton League of Women Voters of Hopewell Valley will sponsor a public meeting on problems of usage and conservation of water on Wednesday, November 7, at 8:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Hopewell Township Central High School.

Paul VanVeen, president of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, will be the principal speaker. Mrs. J. C. Merrill of Trenton, a director of the New Jersey League of Women Voters, will attend. A question-and-answer period will follow Mr. VanVeen's talk.

Residents of the Princeton area as well as those who live in the vicinity of Hopewell have been invited to attend the meeting. The Hopewell League was organized earlier this year.

The group is preparing an informational booklet, "Know Your Area," which will be similar to the "Know Your Town" booklet put out by the Princeton League of Women Voters. "Know Your Area" will deal with Hopewell Township and the Boroughs of Hopewell and Pennington.

DOCTORS APPOINTED

To Hospital Staff. Princeton Hospital has added three physicians to its medical and dental staffs.

Dr. William D. Dalrymple, chairman of Princeton University's Health Services, has become a member of the emergency staff. He will have privileges in internal medicine. Joining the consulting staff with privileges in pediatric surgery is Dr. Frank Barbanis, a former assistant attending surgeon of Boston's Floating Hospital for Children. Dr. James H. Mooney, formerly practicing in Kingsport, Tenn. will be a member of the Department of Surgery with privileges in neurosurgery.

BADGES AWARDED

To Boy Scout Members. Nine members of Boy Scout Troop 43, First Presbyterian Church, have been given Tenet Badges. Those receiving the honor were Christopher Allen, Raymond Ashton, Kenneth Cook, Robert Cook, Arthur Dringer, David Faltovich, Gary Wallace and Alan Schwartzstein.

In all, there were 27 rank advancements. Those given first class standing were Jonathan Brennenman, Sanford Donald, Richard Green, Arthur Karreman, John Lehman, William McCuaker, Charles Sheldon, Karl Stange and Jay Turner.

Scouts who earned second class ranking include Raymond Ashton, James Irish, Paul Koch, Barry Lindstrom, Morgan Moir and Charles Sheldon. Boys who became Star Scouts were Keith Lawder, Charles Pohl and Craig Richmond. Arthur Buckland received the Bronze Palm to his Eagle Scout award. Merit Badges were given to Stewart Bell, Arthur Buckland, Glenn Christensen, Benjamin Foote, III, Bruce Graham, Kipp Heacock, Keith and William Lawder, Jr., John Lehman, Charles and Douglas Pohl, Craig Richmond, Michael Smith, Reed Smith, Peter Tompkins, William and James Wallace, Jr., and William Walscheid.

A Statement of Fact From the President, OIL HEAT COUNCIL of New Jersey

IRVING OELBAUM

THE ACTUAL FIGURES

There's been a lot of confusion recently about the number of homes using various fuels in our state.

It's high time somebody gave the New Jersey public the straight facts and I can't think of a better authority than the United States Census of 1960. Here's what this source reports:

Number of Households in N. J.	1,806,100
HOUSEHOLDS USING OILHEAT	1,135,300
Households Using Utility Gas	446,200
Households Using Coal & Coke	184,400
Bottled LP Gas	20,700
Electricity	4,400
Wood	3,800
Other	5,800
None	5,500

These are the statistics. OILHEAT is more than 2½ times more popular than its nearest competitor.

WHAT PEOPLE LIKE ABOUT OILHEAT

OILHEAT is crystal clean—there are no dangerous fumes to worry about.

OILHEAT offers security of supply—an ample supply right in your own storage tank where you know you can depend on it.

OILHEAT offers complete service—not just the flame in your burner.

OILHEAT offers the public a wide choice of responsible dealers—none of whom has a monopoly.

OILHEAT is a thrifty fuel as proved by "The Engineers' Report"... an independent survey of all the major home heating fuels in the state.

Your OILHEAT dealer is prepared to give you all the facts about all the home heating fuels available in our state. He will answer your questions honestly and simply. Why not phone him soon? You'll discover—as have over a million Jersey families—that he's a good man to know... and he appreciates your business.

UP AND OVER FOR TIGERS: THIRD TOUCHDOWN. Fullback Cosmo Iacavazzi dives over massed Cornell defenders for third Princeton touchdown at Ithaca. The rugged Tiger sophomore had a great day, scoring three times and accounting for 131 yards running, but sieve-like defense gave Cornell 35-24 victory.

SPORTS In Princeton

TIGERS IN TROUBLE. As Bright Season Tides, for the first time in 93 years of football, Princeton has managed to lose two games in a row by a single point. It took of itself, penalties and ill-conceived strategy, topped by an afternoon of incredibly poor defense.

Tigers a player in the record book none of their predecessors had the misfortune find.

The Ivy League race will be resumed Saturday at 1:30 in Palmer Stadium against last-place Brown. As the adjacent standings show, Princeton is still second, but off its performance at Ithaca last weekend and what the TV screen showed in the Dartmouth-Harvard game, the future of a temporary runner-up has rarely been blacker.

Five games into the season, and two months after practice began, Princeton is still without a defense and without a passing attack. Its running is occasionally extremely impressive—save for the fact that on six occasions in the past two weeks, it has failed to produce points on the scoreboard when they would have meant a first-down mark instead of the current pick-up-the-pieces 3-2 record.

Take, for example, the situation in the fourth quarter at Ithaca when the Tigers had a 24-21 lead and a first down on the Cornell 27. Time and again, they had moved through the Ithaca defenses in the second where they at least had control of the score if they could not keep the opposition from scoring.

With time beginning to run out, one more TD would put the game beyond recall against even the porous defense of which Princeton had been usually all afternoon. But three plays later, the Tigers were well back of the 27, having fumbled and recovered for a loss and been tagged with a 15-yard holding penalty.

They were forced to kick instead of moving in for the game-winning TD, and as soon as the ball went into the end zone, Cornell took possession on its 20 and rolled steadily downfield. A dozen plays, some of them visibly befuddling the Princeton defenders before the tackle was made, produced the score and the pre-season holding of Pete Gogolak converted for the fifth straight time to make it a 35-24 final.

Among other things, it was the decision to try to match Gogolak's superb place-kicking ability that cost the victory, and the expensive offside penalty which nullified a two-point conversion in the fourth quarter to leave the losers trailing at 28-26. Had Princeton come for two points against Colgate, it might have won at Ithaca. It was the same story of unwillingness to gamble in a tight game that brought the one-point defeat. With the season more than half gone, it is also time for Tiger followers to admit and somehow that they have been muttering about quietly since the season started. There isn't a back on the entire team who is throwing passes with any character to them.

Princeton's aerial attempts are often overblat, many of those completed are woefully and a couple have been virtually end over end, completed only through a great effort on the part of a receiver. Statistically, the Tigers were a miserable five for 16 against Cornell and after five games, they are no better than 31 for 68. Only one for a touchdown. If in their November games they remain a team which cannot pass consistently, the running attack will suffer accordingly from a tight defense.

Wood Becomes Superman. Cornell's Gary Wood is a pretty good quarterback, but anyone who wagers that he'll be the all-Ivy choice this season would lose his shirt. That disposition is certain to go to Dartmouth's Bill King, who can do everything Wood does on offense at least as well and is a fine linebacker in addition. Wood is never used when Cornell is on defense.

Against Princeton, however, Wood set one Ivy League record and tied another as he ran for two touchdowns and passed for three more against the Tigers' pop-eyed defenders. He completed 13 of 16 passes for 212 yards and when he ran for another 125, his 337-yard total far eclipsed the 233 yards Jim Motley of Princeton had run up against Harvard in 1956. The three touchdown passes equaled a mark credited to four other backs since the league became formal six years ago.

The down-to-earth answer is that while the Cornell quarterback played some extremely good football, his achievements were distinctly aided by Princeton's strictly mediocre defensive play. The Ithaca's first TD was recorded because the receiver, Ed Burnap, was well beyond the Tiger secondary, while largely overlooked in the uproar of the 68-point downstroke is the fact that Cornell would have had a 96-yard scoring play early in the opening period had not the receiver dropped the ball when he was alone in midfield as Willie Mays is in center for the Giants.

In his two Ivy games to date against routine Harvard and Yale teams, Wood averaged 54 yards—figures he tripled against Princeton. Last year a sophomore, he totalled only 49 yards in nine games, covering barely more than a third of his passes. The Tigers, however, set him up for 123 left on the clock. In the 1961 total and watched him increase on 81 percent of his passes, three for touchdowns.

Melodramatic Affair. The high-scoring drama had a Hollywood touch to it, from the see-saw motion of the action to the fact that the winning points were passed on Cornell's side of the board with 1:23 left on the clock. The Tigers had leads of 7-0, 14-7, 20-14 and 34-28 before their attack fumbled with a first and ten on the home team's 27 after John Heinrich's fine runback of a Cornell pass.
Largely overlooked in reports of the game were the three touchdowns scored by sophomore fullback Cosmo Iacavazzi on a one-yard plunge and runs of 11 and 38 yards and tailback Pete Poretits and quarterback John Heinrich had the best days for the Tigers on offense, but on defense virtually everybody was out to lunch.

ROAD AHEAD IS ROCKY
Can Tigers Win 3 of 4? Princeton can achieve a 6-3 season and with it the Big Three title, something of the bright hopes for a line year will have been salvaged. As shaken as they are by the consecutive one-point defeats, it is inconceivable that they can lose this weekend to a Brown team that has won only once in its last 14 games.
Thereafter, it will be Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth, all of which have played better football in the past three weeks than has Princeton. The Indians, of course, are far away the class of the league at this point and will have the title wrapped up before their meeting with the Tigers if the latter lose once more.

Brown this Saturday will build its offense around the

Tale of the One-Point Defeats
Princeton's loss of two successive games by one point for the first time in 93 years of football divulged other statistics involving decisions by the slimmest of all possible margins.
Prior to 1962, the Tigers had not lost a game in this fashion since Harvard edged them, 7-6, at Cambridge in 1955. In the Cornell series, which dates back to the 1880s, they had lost to the Ithacans by this margin only once before—a 6-5 defeat in 1907.
If they have now dropped two in a row by a single point, the Tigers cannot afford the three disappointments on the plus side—no two successive games ever came their way in this fashion. The last time they were the victors in a one-point ver-diction was in 1953, 20 to 19 over Columbia.

Of Princeton's nine current opponents, no one-point games have ever been played with Rutgers, Yale or Dartmouth. There have been three two-point games with Rutgers, one with Yale. But none with Dartmouth, but none with Yale. But when the foot was still in football, there were many three-point decisions with the Elis.

Of the six 1962 opponents with whom games have been decided by one point, Princeton is on the short end of the stick against four. The Tigers have 1-1 records against Columbia and Penn, but are 0-1 with Colgate and 0-2 against Cornell, Brown and Harvard.

play of the game—a victory, no matter how small the margin, is a must. Make that first one a decisive 20-19 victory and you have a jubilant Princeton High School team.
After emerging from the cloud of defeat after defeat into the sunshine of victory, the Little Tigers, quite naturally, would like to bank in its glow a little longer. Unfortunately, another cloud in the form of East Point is on the horizon and threatens to cast them into the shadows again.
The first confrontation between East Patterson (5-1) and PHS (1-1) will take place on Friday morning at 11 here on Harris Field. For the foreseeable future, at least, Princeton will not appear on Princeton High's 1963 schedule.
PHS coach Dick Wood reported that East Patterson's coach, Ken Karl, whom he met for the first time earlier this year, reminded him strongly of Ken Keuffel, former highly successful coach at Lawrenceville School. "Both are so involved in football," said Wood. "Karl is one of those who live, eat, and sleep football."

"Fighting Chance." Saturday's invaders tuned up for their battle with PHS by smacking winless Manchester on Saturday, 46-0. "I wouldn't want to say what the outcome will be," said Wood. "We know so little about them I always like to feel that we have a fighting chance."

Will the impetus gained from that first victory carry over to this contest? "Yes, I think it makes a lot of difference," Wood said. "I'll say we'll be a better team next week because of that win. The boys are more confident. They're really excited. I've never seen them so perked up."
Defensively, the Blue and White will have to go without the services of Jack Britton and Roy Ballinger. Britton, a tack on defense as a tackle, has yet to improve satisfactorily from a slight concussion sustained in the Trenton game. A leg injury has kept Ballinger sidelined and will leave a hole on defense at end elsewhere, the Little Tigers are at full strength.

Still Not Satisfied. Although the PHS backs gained 182 yards rushing against Somerset last week, Wood said that he was still not satisfied with the team's running game. Rather, he reported, it was much better blocking that made the running attack look better than it was. He indicated that he plans no drastic changes for East Patterson but will concentrate on perfecting existing plays.
A heretofore dormant offense finally stirred itself Saturday as the Little Tigers contained an alert defense with some fine running by fullbacks John Kowalski and Paul Walicki to defeat Stennert High School, 27-0, in Trenton. The loss was the slumping Spartans' third, but the 27 points run up by PHS were more than that had previously scored all season.

In the first half, the visitors scored early in the first quarter on a sustained drive and dict was in 1953, 20 to 19 over Columbia.

THIS 44 SHOOTS FOR TD AND GETS IT: Although several Steiner defenders stood before Princeton High's blue-shirted John Kowalski and the goal line five yards away, the PHS fullback managed to step into the end zone before being pushed out of bounds. The third-quarter touchdown was Kowalski's second of the afternoon and fourth for the season.

threethird tw...cc more. The second half was marked by PHS picking off four Steiner passes, one leading to a touch-down, and recovering a fumbled Spartan punt and a fumble in the backfield. Both of these miscues also led to scores.

After an exchange of punts had opened the game, fullback Bill Aiken got the Little Tigers their first first down on the Spartan 46. With Walslad and Kowalski alternating on carries, PHS ran for three more successive first downs to move the ball to the 16. After a pass to the goal line had failed, Kowalski circled end for the TD. Jim Wheeler then booted the extra point to put PHS out in front, 7-0.

PHS threatened to add another tally moments later when a bad snapback forced it would-be Steiner punter to run with the ball. He was tackled on the home team 16. From there Princeton moved to the 8 in three plays. On fourth down, Tom Lindall was stopped short inches away from a first down.

40-Yard Pass. In the closing minute of the first half, Wood turned loose the team's "most natural passer," Jim Case. Jimmy promptly hit Kowalski for a first down and then connected with a 40-yard strike to end Jim Norris that carried to the Steiner 17. Only five seconds remained, however, and time ran out on the Little Tigers.

PHS greeted the home team in the third period with two quick touchdowns. The Spartans made it extremely easy for PHS on both occasions. Joe Panek set things up for the Blue and White by recovering a fumbled punt on the Steiner 12. On a third and five situation, Kowalski sliced off tackle, out to his right and just crossed the goal line before going out of bounds. Again, Wheeler kicked the extra point.

Then, on the first play from scrimmage following the return kick-off, Steiner's Dave Kowalski fumbled the snapback. Defensive end Jim Boynton picked up the loose ball and romped in from 20 yards out. "That," said Wood, "was the play that broke Steiner's back."

In an all-out effort to come back, Spartan quarterback Tom Calvanelli took to the air. The results were disastrous. Larry Madden intercepted a Calvanelli aerial and returned it to the PHS 45. In two plays Kowalski advanced the ball to the four but a penalty nullified the thrust.

Rule Intercepts. Shortly after Bob Rule got in front of another Calvanelli pass and returned it to the Steiner 19, Walslad got the fourth PHS TD from nine yards out. This time Wheeler passed to Madden for the conversion. Steiner never threatened. Aided by two back-in-back 15-yard penalties chalked off against PHS, the Spartans, in the first period, penetrated as far as the PHS 21. Then two running plays lost four yards and two passes were batted down and the threat evaporated.

Wood attributed victory mainly to a stout defense, especially at the halfback and safety positions. "Our strong point on defense," he said, "was our three safety men—Madden, Norris and Kowalski." Madden, at safety, had an exceptionally good day, intercepting two Steiner passes and knocking down several more.

Wood also reported that a pleasant surprise on defense was Jim Boynton. "He played that end position well all day. We were surprised at how fast he reacted out there. Boynton isn't overly strong physically but he guarded two men well on many plays. We didn't think he'd be that good." Boynton is a junior.

Another junior singled out by Wood was Jim Bechell in the offensive quarterback position. "Bechell looks pretty good out there," He is learning how to survey the situation much better and has gained some confidence in himself. He is very coachable; he'll do everything you tell him exactly to the letter. He should help us out a lot next year."

HUN TO BE UNDERDOG
Against Friday. Fresh from an 8-0 verdict over Friends Central last week in Philadelphia, its first of the season, the Hun School football team will be cast in the role of underdog when it travels to Elizabeth Friday afternoon to battle unbeaten Pingry. The contest will start at 3:15.

"It will have to be an upset if we are going to beat them," said Hun coach Hawley Waterman, who scouted Pingry during the 19-0 decision Saturday over Admiral Kearsarge. The victory was Pingry's fifth in a row without a loss.

"They're a real big team," Waterman added, "especially in the line. There is no noticeable drop-off when their second team comes on the field." The Hun coach has no illusions about Hun's chances. "We're not as good as they are," he admitted candidly, "but we've got nothing to lose so we might as well go out and have a lot of fun."

In truth, Waterman and the Hun squad would like nothing better than to puncture Pingry's dreams of a perfect season, to repay in kind for the time this same Pingry school did just that to Hun. The memory of Pingry's intransigence is still fresh in Hun's mind, for it happened only last year when the Red and Black was en route to a 7-1 record, its best since 1950. The one blot? A 12-0 defeat by Pingry.

This season, Hun has no record to defend. Instead it had to wait five weeks for last Friday's first victory over Friends Central. The one touchdown margin was representative of the evenness of the record of two schools carried into the fray. Hun was 6-3-1, Central, 1-3-0.

The lone score came early in the third period when Hun center, Bruce Fish, blocked a Central punt. Doug Gillespie, co-captain and tackle for the Johnny Huns, picked up the loose ball on the home team 46 and lumbered the remaining distance. He was sprung loose by a fine, second-effort key block by Fish. Greg Ganung.

MISS BEARDSLEE SINGS With Princeton Orchestra. On Monday evening at McCarter Theatre, the Princeton Symphony Orchestra began its season under the direction of Nicholas Harsanyi. The featured soloist was the soprano Bethany Beardslee, who was heard in Bach's Wedding Cantata (No. 202) and the aria from Rossini's "Barber of Seville." The orchestra began the evening with Mozart's "Symphony Concertante" for wind quartet and orchestra, and also presented Stravinsky's "Concerto in D major for String Orchestra." The evening's special distinction was the singing of Miss Beardslee, in her first local appearance with orchestra. The Bach work, one of the most charming of the surviving secular cantatas, was sung with remarkable precision, musicality, and attention to the finer points of text and phrasing; in fact, this singer has rarely projected text with such clarity, a care which redounded to the benefit of the purely musical structure.

Miss Beardslee's associates in the performance shared her single out for praise: Jozsef Kovacs, violin; Ronald Rosenman, oboe; David Wells, cello; and Joyce McKel, harpsichord, who realized the continuo part with both imagination and taste. Indeed, this performance marked a considerable step forward for the Princeton Symphony in matters of proper baroque style. Only one reservation might be made in this respect: the end movements would have benefited from the command of style, balance, and technical proficiency, by the use of a somewhat smaller body of strings. In every other way, it was a charming and satisfying performance.

It could be argued, however, that Miss Beardslee's singing of the Rossini aria was even more striking, even more rarely heard. This work performed to such musical effect, one rarely even hears it performed in the original key too high for mezzo, too low for soprano, or without "traditional" encrustations of ornamentation and the like. Miss Beardslee's range to give full value throughout without employing the usual devices, and the good sense to limit the composer's original lines inserting stylistically and musically apt codanzas in the appropriate places.

Equally important, the aria was sung with an attention to textual values and a dramatic point which placed it as part of a theatrical work, and not merely an exhibition of coloratura technique. This is not to suggest that there were any flaws in the technical realization, but rather to imply that the rest of Miss Beardslee's Rossini was fascinating to hear and see, on the basis of "tonal" evening's tantalizing sample.

In the Violon Sonata Concertante there was the pleasure of hearing the first-class wind players of the New York Philharmonic: Harold Gramberg, oboe; Stanley Drucker, clarinet; Joseph Singer, horn; and Emanuel Ziegler, bassoon. The excellence of Mr. Drucker's playing has been previously noted in these columns, on the occasion of his performance of the Mozart Clarinet Quintet with the Lenox String Quartet; he very probably plays the clarinet better than anybody else, and his colleagues profited from an equal of similar excellence.

Aside from the Rossini there it sounded more like the first provincial, the execution of the Princeton Symphony was more than respectable, even in the "travesty" Concerto, a similarly attractive piece, and one not played with nearly the frequency it deserves — just the right sort of thing for the repertoire of the Princeton Symphony, which once again maintained the standards of interest and pleasure which we have come to expect in their concerts.

Fund Drive at 60%
The United Fund-Red Cross Campaign has reached $187,932, 60 percent of its goal of $312,797. Divisional reports show Special Gifts, $80,500; Neighborhood, $10,400; Professions, $14,100; Mercantile, $3,395; Research, $59,587; Shopping Center, $580; Building Trades, $1,600; and University, $17,500. Robert P. Pupino, campaign chairman, reported that the drive's 1500 volunteers are presently completing their assignments. Among the firms which have already attained or surpassed their quotas are Gallup & Robinson, $170,707; Benson & Benson, $776; Educational Testing Service, $8,773; David Brodsky, of ETS reported the 1962 figure topped last year's by 25%.

SEEFRIED TO SING
In Lieder Program. A singer who is equally at home in opera, oratorio or song recital will bring her varied talents to McCarter Theatre Monday at 8:30 in the second concert of the Princeton University Concert Series II. Irmgard Seefried made her debut at the Vienna State Opera at the age of 22 and has sung there ever since. She is particularly celebrated for her performances in Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro," "The Magic Flute," "Don Giovanni" and "Così fan Tutti," in Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" and in several of the operas of Richard Strauss.

Her American debut occurred in 1932 when she sang Susanna in "The Marriage of Figaro" at the Metropolitan Opera. This season, she will appear as soloist with Clarion Concerts in New York, apta, in Telemann's concerta, "Iuo." For her McCarter appearance, Miss Seefried has chosen a program of Lieder by Schubert, Brahms, Wolf, Moussorgsky and Hindemith, opening her program with three Hindemith songs from Rainier Maria Rilke's "Das Meinereben."

She will also sing Schubert's setting of Goethe's Gretchen's songs from Goethe's "Faust," and three Brahms songs: "Wie kommt's ich denn zur Tür herbei," "Ich sing aus wanderer" and "Mein Mädel hat einen Rosenkranz." From Hugo Wolf's setting of Goethe's "Wilhelm Meister," Miss Seefried will sing "Nur wer die Sehnsucht kennt" and "Kennst du das Land." Her program will conclude with six songs from Moussorgsky's "Kinderstube."

GLEE CLUBS TO SING
For Harvard Game. Two conductors, long known to Princeton audiences, will come together next Friday, November 9, for the annual Football Concert to be given in Alexander Hall on campus at 8 p.m.

Thomas Hibbiss, director of the Princeton High School Choir, and now acting conductor of the Princeton University choir, will direct the sabatinal of the group's regular conductor, Walter Norville, conductor of the Harvard Glee Club who was a member of the Princeton faculty from 1947 to 1954.

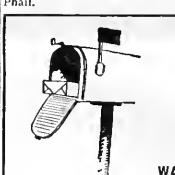

The Princeton club will sing the "Secret Longest-Est" from Bach's "Magnificat," Bartok's Five Slovak Folk Songs, works by Schubert and Schubert and a composition by Samuel Barber, which requires a brass choir and three kettle drums. The Glee Club will conclude with Vaughan-Williams' "Dancing Song" and the Princeton football medley. Harvard's singers will perform Walter Pivov's "Finnish Song," Morley's "Fire, Fire, Fire," songs by Pauline and David, and an arrangement of student songs.

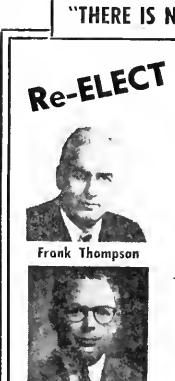

IRMGARD SEEFRIED: The Venetian soprano will sing in McCarter next Monday.

from the University of Leipzig, written in 1626. The two groups will join for the presentation of Bach's "Der Herr Seine Euech" from the Cantata No. 196. Tickets are on sale at the University Store.

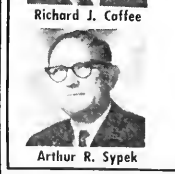

CONCERT PLANNED
By Westminster Organist. Dr. George Markey, professor of organ at Westminster Choir College, will give a recital at 8 p.m. on Tuesday in the chapel. His program will include Wadon's "Introduction and Toccata," Beethoven's "Nun bitten wir," J. S. Bach's "Jesus Christ, Our Blessed Saviour," and "Prelude and Fugue in Minor," Mendelssohn's "Sonata I in F-Minor," Beethoven's "Benedictus," Crandell's "Carnival Suite" and Durufle's "Toccata." A Fellow of the American Guild of Organists, Dr. Markey was graduated from MacPhail College of Music, Minneapolis, in 1943. He received his artists diploma in 1949 from the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, and was awarded an honorary Doctor of Music degree from MacPhail.

Princeton High School gymnasium Saturday morning at 10 with gym suits and sneakers. League games will begin November 17. All interested should first contact the Y office on Avalon Place.

BOWLING NOTES

Graver Widens Lead. Graver widened its lead in the "A" League last week by winning one of three games. With a total of 30 points, it now leads Aversand Construction by ten points. Yeomar's swept three games to move into a second-place tie with Aversand.

K of C and Couper and Schafer are 12 points off the pace in fourth place. Vic Ranallo rolled a 230 for top single-game performance. His Graver teammate, Bill Dumble, had the only other score over 200 — a 212.

In "B" League competition, Kase Kleener doubled its lead to four points with a total of 24. Jugtown, Campus Tail and Balestrieri are in a three-way tie for third place.

Bill Pincell had a 229 for the league's high game. The performance was followed by Jim Kahny's 207, Tom Friel's 204, Val Ranallo's 205, Harry Kahny's 201 and 200 games by Milton Shinn and Bob Seulerati.

Lawrenceville increased its Tri-County Freeman's League lead over Hook and Ladder I to eight points, by sweeping three games, giving them a total of 36 points. Princeton No. 1 took two out of three to move into a second-place tie. Belle Mead and Rocky Hill both failed to win a game and dropped into a tie for fourth place.

Barry Davall, with a 201, was the only bowler to clear 200. Walt Coan, with a 198, and Frank Stasko, with a 195, came close. The Crescents swept three games to move into first place in the Industrial League. The Reformers and Para Lab could claim only one victory in three tries and dropped into a second-place tie with 24 points each, two points off the pace.

Ray Durling's 215 was the high game of the week, closely followed by a 216 performance by Nick Seulerati. Val Ranallo, 206, Red Holmes, 203, and Gib Ireland, 203, were the only other bowlers to surpass 200.

In the Women's Industrial League, Jefferson Plumbing maintained its two-point lead over the English Shop. Deck-er's Dairy dropped to third place, six points off the pace. Sara Rose bowled a 191 for the top performance in the league. Other top games were turned in by Betty Frazee, 175, Rose Zinetti, 174, and Evelyn Walton, 168.

PEACE CORPS TALK SET At Women's Club Meeting. The Women's College Club of Princeton will hear Dr. James Street discuss "The Peace Corps" at Monday's meeting. The talk will begin at 8 at the Unitarian Church.

Dr. Street, a professor of economics at Rutgers University, has traveled extensively in Latin American countries. For this reason, he was appointed to Iran Peace Corp volunteers in Colombia.

HOW DO I GET IN?

School Guide Ready. As a guide for parents and teachers who are searching for the right independent secondary school, the Secondary School Admission Test Board has issued a revised edition of "Admission to Secondary Schools," available without charge from Educational Testing Service, Princeton.

The booklet is designed to help parents find the private school that will best serve the needs of a particular child. The Secondary School Admission Board, an association of nearly 50 independent schools, advises parents to "make the judgment in terms of your child and not of yourself," pointing out that "even the fact that you attended a certain school yourself or that your friend's child is going there now, does not necessarily make it the best school for your son or daughter."

Secondary School admissions tests will be offered on December 8, February 9 and April 6 to approximately 23,000 candidates, according to ETS spokesmen.

FOOD SALE PLANNED By Hopewell PTA. The Hopewell Township PTA will hold its Harvest Food Sale this Saturday. The PTA's principal fund-raising program, the event will take place at the Park Avenue Cleaners, Main Street, Pennington, and in addition wagons parked near Oyster's Pharmacy, Pennington. —Continued on Page 15

ASSORTED POTENTIAL BUYS:

For people to whom space, schooling and budget are important. Here is a 3 year old, 4 bdrn. split in a neighborhood community with excellent schooling that might be a steal. (Owner transferred, must sell etc.) Modern kitchen, rec. rm., good condition. LARGE ASSIGNABLE G.I. MORTGAGE. Asking $24,500. Lower offer on quick closing might take.

Regged individuals or fanatics finicky about privacy. (ake note) This contemporary house in the woods (five acres) has just been REDUCED FOR QUICK SALE to $42,500.00. Pine boards and Battens... flagstone & whitewashed brick... railroad ties & white gravel... glass walls & dovetail... get the feel of it! It's easily expandable and the land alone is worth a good $20,000.

This brick and frame West End house is one of the best values in town. Five large bedrooms, large living room with fireplace, study, dining room, kitchen, 2-car garage and three baths make up the interior. Call this on a good acre lot can be had for only $54,000.

TWO LINE TEASERS

North of Pton, Small ranch, Sep. din. rm., dry basement. Lovely high land makes expansion worthwhile. $12,500. Retirement home: 2 1/2 ydms., living rm. with fireplace, kit, 1 1/2 baths and a lovely yard with pool and low upkeep. $29,000.00.

Lake area new listing, 4 bdrn. house priced lower than comparable homes. Rec. rm., extra special lot. $39,500.

New West End listing. Tower built 5 bdrn. 3 1/2 bath home. Lovely pool, perfect condition extras! $72,000.00.

Early Princeton charmer. West End Borough. Secluded, easy care grounds. Good Condition 3 or 4 bdrms. $55,000.

GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY — as practiced by one-party Township Committee. Did you know that Township owns more than 200 acres of land? (Hempstead, triangles, etc.) that it never sells, leases or leases to the Township's taxpayers to maintain? Neighboring taxpayers of the Township govern all needs. So Township governs all needs of your worst neighbor. ROLE AND HTS would be pleased to make other arrangements.

"BUM WRAP"
ON MOVING DAY!

Let our expert packers prepare your belongings for a safe, damage-proof move. Proper wrapping and packing are the real secrets to safeguarding household treasures.
And it's not just a matter of how they are wrapped, but also with what material. The wrong covering, for example, can cause smudges on lamp shades or discolor costly silverware. The materials we use are specially-made for the purpose . . . always spotlessly clean and brand new. Inside our exclusive Sanitized* vans, your furnishings remain fresh and clean . . . free from mildew, mold and musty odors.
Whether you're moving locally, long-distance or overseas, call us today for a prompt free estimate. No obligation, of course.

WHAT GOOD IS A PLANNING BOARD? By Princeton Township experience, almost none. That was the one public body that had a crack months ago at the threatening College Rd. closing. It had to approve the opening of Faculty Rd., the so-called alternate route (Alexander St.) so the whole thing was carried through in the date of night—and no questions asked. FOLLY and HITE want to make the Planning Board a two-party affair, for the first time in history.

USED SHOE TREES — Not guaranteed. When your luck runs out, it runs out all the way. Township Committee fudged on so many things in 1982, you'd think at least their new little shade trees in the Harrison St. center strip might have lived. But alas, most of them were infected with the marauding spirit of Township Hall and they just died. YOLLY and HITE know where to get shade trees that will live. Would save the taxpayers money.

What's A Tire Kicker, Daddy?

A Tire Kicker, in the parlance of the auto dealer, is the prospect who kicks the tires in an attempt to evaluate the auto's worth. The next step is to jump up and down on the bumper to make sure the car bounces the right number of times. We don't have any tires to kick at Princeton Ridge . . . but we do have walls to knock, doors to close, and faucets to turn. We're especially proud of the materials in our homes . . . so by all means, come out, wall knockers and tire kickers. We have the walls — you bring the tires — via Route 206 north to Washington Street in Rocky Hill.

PRINCIPLES AND PICTURES. FOLEY AND HITE have based their campaign on explaining exactly where they stand on important questions. Their opponents have run largely by publishing their pictures week after week. They ARE nice looking fellows, but that's not much of a guarantee they will upgrade the performance of Township Government. (Have a look at HITE & FOLEY—they're nice-looking fellows, too.)
